REPORT.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 1, 1890.

HON. JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

SIR: I have the honor to submit my report for the years 1889 and 1890.

ORGANIZATION.

Since my last report there has been some modification in the organization of the troops, in order to equalize the two brigades, and give twelve companies to each infantry regiment.

The First Brigade, Brigadier-General Charles Fitz Simons, with headquarters in Chicago, comprises the First, Second and Third Regiments of Infantry, and Battery D.

The Second Brigade, Brigadier-General Jasper N. Reece, with headquarters in Springfield, comprises the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Regiments of Infantry, and Battery A.

The aggregate strength of the Guard is 3,790 officers and men. The following organizations have been disbanded: Company C, Eighth Infantry, October 12, 1889; Company B, Sixth Infantry, April 5, 1890; Company E, Eighth Infantry, May 19, 1890; and Company G, Fifth Infantry, June 4, 1890.

The organizations mustered in, are Company L, Fifth Infantry, July 24, 1889; Company H, First Infantry, February 28, 1890; Company I, Fourth Infantry, March 7, 1890; Company B, Sixth Infantry, May 20, 1890; and Company K, First Infantry, June 23, 1890.

Companies C and I, Fourth Infantry, were transferred to be Companies L and M, First Infantry.

Companies F, Fourth Infantry, C, Third Infantry, and D, Fourth Infantry, were transferred to be Companies K, L and M, Sixth Infantry, respectively. Company A, Third Infantry, was detached as the first separate company. The twelve companies remaining in the Third and Fourth Infantry were consolidated as the Third Infantry. The designation of the Eighth was changed to be the Fourth Infantry. The organization of the force has never been more satisfactory than at this date.

The general condition of the National Guard has never been better than at the close of the annual encampments in 1889, and with adequate appropriations for its future maintenance, it will continue to grow in efficiency and popularity and will meet the highest expectations of the State.

UNIFORMS, EQUIPMENTS, ARMS.

Except the dress coat, black helmet, web cartridge belt, campaign hat, leggins and intrenching tool, the arms, equipments and uniforms are the same as those issued to the United States Army and are in good condition.

Unfortunately, the amount appropriated by Congress for arming and equipping the militia, when apportioned among the various states and territories, is insufficient to supply our small force. When it is considered that the states maintain an army of more than a hundred thousand men, as an auxiliary for the general government in an emergency, as well as for aiding the civil power to execute the law within their own borders, it is a modest request for them to ask that their troops be furnished with ammunition, arms and equipments by Congress.

The President has called attention to this subject in his recent message to Congress, urging that the aid extended be continued and enlarged.

CAMP EQUIPAGE.

Many of the tents have been in use for years and the wear and tear incident to hard usage every year at reunions, occasioned by the putting up, taking down, loading and unloading in cars and wagons, more than by their use when standing, has worn them out rapidly. I had them all overhauled and repaired in 1889 at a cost of about six hundred dollars, but I find that it will be necessary to purchase several hundred new tents before the troops are encamped again, requiring an expenditure of about six thousand dollars.

ENCAMPMENTS.

The troops were encamped by regiment during the months of July and August, 1889. There were no funds provided by the last General Assembly for a camp of instruction for the troops this year. It has been very demoralizing to the troops in general, but particularly so to the regiments composed of companies scattered in towns throughout the State, and that have no opportunity to acquire battalion drill and other instruction as a regimental unit, except one week each year when in camp. I have been both gratified and surprised at the skill and ingenuity displayed by commanding officers in keeping up the interest of their officers and men, and in preserving their organizations in a fair state of discipline.

If the troops are to be kept well instructed in their duties, and if they are expected to be equal to any emergency requiring their services, it is essential that provision be made for their annual instruction in camp.

ARMORIES.

During the past year the First Infantry, aided by Chicago enterprise and liberality, has built a magnificent armory covering an entire block, which will probably be ready for occupancy by February next. The regiment is to be congratulated upon securing a permanent home, so perfectly adapted to its needs. The structure is a monument that its projectors and those who contributed to its erection, may point to with pride and satisfaction.

INSPECTION.

The Secretary of War detailed Brevet Lieut.-Colonel Gaines Lawson, Captain 25th U. S. Infantry, to inspect the Illinois camps in July and August, 1889. Subsequently, at your request Colonel Lawson was detailed for duty with the State of Illinois. During the past year he has inspected nearly every organization in the Guard. In addition to his counsel and advice, he has made himself useful in ways too numerous to mention. Your attention is respectfully invited to his reports, also to the report of Colonel William S. Brackett, Inspector General.

REGULATIONS.

Regulations for the government of the troops have been prepared and published. The work was made to conform as nearly as practicable to the U. S. army regulations, and includes the articles of war and all the military laws of Illinois.

The articles on Aid to Civil Authority, Boards of Survey, and Courts Martial, were quite elaborate and enter largely into details, otherwise a studied effort at brevity was maintained throughout, in order that the volume might be a small hand book of reference. In the preparation of the work I was ably assisted by Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Gaines Lawson, U. S. Army, whose skill and ripe experience as a soldier, as well as his familiarity with the subject, were of infinite value.

SMALL ARMS FIRING.

The interest in this branch of the service continues to grow in popularity with the troops. The results obtained during the year 1889, were highly satisfactory. Out of less than three thousand officers and men practicing, there were two thousand four hundred and twenty-nine who qualified in the various classes. Each class includes both fixed distance and skirmish firing. There were 1,188 who qualified as riflemen, 538 as marksmen, 388 as experts, 302 as sharpshooters and 13 as distinguished sharpshooters. There were a few changes in the regulations adopted in 1890. Firing at seven and nine hundred yards was eliminated from the expert and sharpshooters' classes, while eight hundred yards was included in the expert class, and one thousand yards in the sharpshooters' class. The distinguished sharpshooters' class is the same as "Subsequent Courses," as prescribed in Par. 872, Small Arms Firing Regulations, Blunt, the highest of the army classes. The number qualifying as distinguished sharpshooters in 1890, was 38. The Military Rifle Association of the National Guard of the Northwest, was organized in February last. The association held its first annual competition at Camp Douglas, Wisconsin, from September 9th to 12th inclusive. The States of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan and Illinois were each represented by teams of ten men and two alternates. The rules governing army competitions were adopted with only the following modifications. Ten shots were fired at each of the distances, 200, 300, 500, and 600 yards and two skirmish runs of twenty shots, limited to two shots at each halt, thus expending one-half the ammunition required in army competitions.

Each of the States furnished excellent teams and the scores were so close, that the winning team could not be named until the last shot had been fired. This year our troops gained considerable experience in team shooting, as the regimental teams competed for places on the brigade teams, and the brigade teams competed for places on the State team.

More than one-third of the strength of the National Guard is stationed in the city of Chicago. To secure range facilities for small arms practice for them, it is necessary to go a long distance in the country. A small piece of ground, some ten or twelve miles from the city, has been rented for the past three years and five targets erected thereon. As appropriations are made for only two years at a time, a lease for a longer period cannot be made and an advance in rent is almost sure to be demanded upon each renewal. The customs of business men in all large cities are such, that the days when the men could be spared from their usual employment to go to the range, would be the same for nearly all, hence the necessity for greater facilities in the vicinity of Chicago. The range should be at least one thousand yards in length for long range practice, there should be a mid range of 600 yards, a short range of 300 yards and a skirmish range; these should be so situated with reference to each other, that all might be used at the same time with perfect safety. A suitable range would require from 120 to 200 acres of ground and should be owned by the State. It is respectfully recommended that the General Assembly be asked to appropriate the funds for its purchase.

During the year, Colonel James A. Shaffer, who has been at the head of this department for nearly fifteen years, resigned from the service and was succeeded by Colonel James M. Rice who had been associated with him in his work for ten years. The details of the results accomplished in 1890, will be found in the report of the general inspector of rifle practice, to which your attention is respectfully invited.

AID TO CIVIL AUTHORITY.

A part of the State troops were detailed for active duty in aid of the civil authorities upon two occasions during the year 1889. At Braidwood, Will county, May 27th, and at Spring Valley, Bureau county, June 1st.

A brief account can best be had by a reproduction of the correspondence, telegrams and official calls for aid by the sheriffs of the counties.

BRAIDWOOD.

BRAIDWOOD, May 23, 1889.

To His Excellency J. W. Fifer, Gov., Springfield:

The coal miners at Braidwood are desirous of going to work. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning at least five hundred Italians from Grundy county invaded our county; at least one hundred of whom carried guns, the rest were armed with revolvers and clubs. This morning their horns blew for their crowd, but a heavy rain prevented them coming.

The Braidwood miners intend to start to-morrow morning, but I am reliably informed that the rioters intend to let the men go to work and then fire the shaft. The mayor of the city has given me notice that he cannot protect the lives and property of his people and has called on me to protect them. I am on the grounds with my deputies and after mature deliberation have satisfied myself that I am unable to protect the men in event of trouble, which will undoubtedly ensue. I therefore call on you to be ready to furnish State militia for their protection. I would suggest that you send, when called, one regiment, and at once. Answer at Braidwood.

ROBERT HUSTON,
Sheriff Will County.

BRAIDWOOD, May 27, 1889.

To His Excellency, Jos. W. Fifer, Governor:

Went to shaft with twenty-five deputies this morning. About one hundred miners went to work. The Italian strikers assembled at the county line about two hundred strong, many of whom carried guns. I was riding along about one hundred yards from them. Their leader called me to them under cover of his gun cocked, and commenced to threaten the lives of all the men at work. He said there would be two thousand men there at 12 o'clock and they would kill every man at work. I told him that I was sheriff of Will county and he must obey my orders or I would call for militia. He said they did not fear militia but they would prevent the men from working even though they were killed. I am satisfied I am powerless to stop them without bloodshed, and all chances against me then, I would therefore call on you for military help, and at once. I will forward letter of particulars at once, first mail.

ROBT. HUSTON,
Sheriff Will County.

SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

Robert Huston, Sheriff of Will County, Braidwood, Ill.:

In response to your call for assistance, I have directed Adjutant-General Vance to proceed to Braidwood and he has already started. He is directed to report to you and to act under your orders in suppressing violence, preserving the peace, protecting property and executing the law, and to do this I have instructed General Vance to call out a sufficient force of the State militia.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

Colonel Fred Bennitt, 4th Infantry, Joliet, Ill.:

The commander-in-chief directs you to at once concentrate your regiment and report with it to the sheriff of Will county, at Braidwood, for the purpose of preserving the peace. You have been detached from the First Brigade for this purpose. Direct your quartermaster to at once make the necessary arrangements to subsist the troops. General Vance goes north on the Alton to-day, No orders have been sent your companies from here. Ordnance and quartermaster stores go north on this evenings Alton train in charge of Colonel Dana. Concentrate your companies at Braidwood at the earliest possible moment.

THEODORE EWERT,

A. A. General.

SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

Colonel Fred Bennitt, Joliet, Ill.:

General Vance has been directed to go to Braidwood, and the governor has authorized him to issue such orders in his name as he may deem advisable.

THEO. EWERT,

A. A. General.

SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

Sheriff Robert Huston of Will County, Braidwood, Ill.:

The 4th Infantry, Colonel Fred Bennitt commanding, has been ordered to report to you at once. General Vance, adjutant-general, will be in Braidwood this evening.

THEO. EWERT,

A. A. General.

BRAIDWOOD, May 27, 1889.

To Governor J. W. Fifer:

Arrived at 5 P. M. At 3 P. M. a mob of eight hundred from Grundy county drove twenty-five of the sheriff's deputies from the J shaft and partially filled the shaft with pit cars and props. Have dispersed now and the sheriff thinks there will be no more trouble to-day. No troops have arrived at this hour, but will arrive about 7 P. M. It will probably be necessary to extend operations into Grundy county if armed parties continue to organize and operate from there.

J. W. VANCE.

Adjutant-General.

SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

To General J. W. Vance, Braidwood, Ill.:

Have requested the sheriff of Grundy county to go to Braidwood and he will, I have no doubt, co-operate with the sheriff of Will county in the preservation of the peace. Concentrate the militia at Braidwood as rapidly as possible and place yourself under the orders of the sheriff.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

BRAIDWOOD, ILL., May 27, 1889.

To His Excellency the Governor, Joseph W. Fifer, Springfield, Ill.:

DEAR SIR:—On May 20th, the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermilion Coal Company undertook to start their works. The superintendent was met by about 250 to 300 men, most of them, I am informed, were carrying concealed weapons. He ordered them to stop, told them they were violating the law; were trespassers and would have to suffer the penalty if they proceeded any further, when an Italian, who seemed to be the leader or captain, ordered them to come on, and refused to let his men go to work, threw ties on the railroad track thereby preventing the cars, which were carrying the men to the shaft, from proceeding any further. They also told the men if they went to work, that blood would be shed. The result of which was that the men went to their homes. This, or similar actions were repeated on the 21st and 22d. On the latter date, they marched up to the shaft with 25 guns, cocked, and told the employes of the company that if they attempted to hoist any coal that they would burn the shaft. The result was the men were so paralyzed that there was no work. On this date I received a message from the mayor of Braidwood which reads as follows:

"Robert Huston, Sheriff of Will County, Joliet, Illinois :

"This city is being over-run by a mob of riotous Italians armed with double-barrel shot-guns, rifles and concealed weapons, have threatened to burn the shaft belonging to the C. W. & V. C. Co., have threatened to destroy life, also my life. I am utterly powerless as Mayor to protect life and property. I call on you as Sheriff of this county to protect us. Answer at once.

*T. B. COREY,
Mayor City of Braidwood."*

In reply to his message I left immediately for Braidwood, found on arriving there everything quiet, but was satisfied from best information I could get that they intended to return the next morning; but as stated in my telegram, a cold rain prevented them. Thursday morning they were blowing their horns, trying to rally their forces but did not succeed. About thirty men came to work, but from appearances across the county line they were afraid to enter the works. Thursday night there were three bombs exploded near the shaft. Friday morning they attempted to get up a crowd, but their forces being so small they went to Coal City and were joined by them and concluded to hold a meeting in the afternoon. About 900 were present. Resolution passed not to interfere with the C., W. and V. C. Co's. men, but from the best information we could get we were led to believe that the resolution was not in good faith on the part of the Italians. Saturday morning there were about ten men who went to work but were so terrified they soon quit. From information received Sunday and Sunday night we were satisfied that there would be a demonstration made Monday morning and we were on the ground with about twenty-five deputies at 5 o'clock A. M., horns blowing and drums beating for about two hours previous, we found that they were gathering on the county road. I proceeded to the county road and talked with several who could speak some English, found they were very bitter and determined, several of them brought their guns with them and hid them in the grass. The whistle blew for work at seven o'clock, about 100 men entered the mine and proceeded to work. As soon as they began to send up coal the demonstration became very violent, their leader pointed his gun at me and my deputy and ordered us to come up to the line. I did so under cover of his gun cocked, he commenced to threaten the lives of all the men at work. He said there would be 2,000 men there at 12 o'clock and they would kill every man that worked. I told him I was sheriff of Will county and he must obey my orders, and if he would not that I would be compelled to call on the Governor for the State militia. He insisted upon having the men quit work, I deeming discretion the better part of valor, requested the boss to have the men come out and go home, they did so about 8:30 A. M. The crowd kept increasing until about 800 or 1,000 of them collected together about 3 o'clock P. M. and started for the shaft and ordered my deputies, of which there were 25, away, they left seeing that there was no use to resist. The mob took possession of the shaft, cut the telephone connection, filled up the shaft with props and pit cars, broke all the glass and put the U. S. flag on top of the pit head. The air shaft was also filled up, blew the whistle until they exhausted all the steam, let all the water out of the tanks or boilers; they then returned to Grundy county. Everything is quiet now at 4:30 P. M.

Yours very truly,

ROBERT HUSTON,
Sheriff Will County, Illinois.

BRAIDWOOD, May 28, 1889.

To Gov. Jos. W. Fifer:

Col. Bennitt and most of his troops arrived this evening in good condition and properly provisioned. Dispositions were made of the troops in accordance with request of Sheriff Huston. I will make no further report until there is something worth sending.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

BRAIDWOOD, May 28, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Everything quiet this morning. Col. Bennitt, at the instance of sheriff, made over fifty arrests of persons this morning, some of whom were disarmed and detained, and will be sent to the jail at Joliet. Some of the persons arrested were recognized as participants in the mob of yesterday. The troops are all on the ground and number between four and five hundred.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

BRAIDWOOD, May 28, 1889.

To Gov. Jos. W. Fifer:

Sheriff Huston has just sent two companies to Diamond, two companies to Godley, and two companies to Monkey Robinson's Corner, to protect his deputies while making some arrests.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

BRAIDWOOD, May 28, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Everything is quiet to-night. Should there be no change in the situation by this hour to-morrow night, I will recommend that one-half the troops be sent home on the thirtieth, as the balance will preserve order.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

BRAIDWOOD, May 29, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Everything quiet. Rain for past sixteen hours. If I am to exercise my discretion, I will reduce the force here to four companies. The sheriff concurs.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

SPRINGFIELD, May 29, 1889.

To Gen. J. W. Vance, Braidwood:

I leave at ten o'clock this P. M. for Aledo, Ill., arriving there at six o'clock in the morning. You can communicate with me at that place if necessary. Consult the Sheriff and act on your best judgement in reference to withdrawing a portion of the troops. Would like to hear from you before I leave.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

BRAIDWOOD, May 30, 1889.

To Gov. Jos. W. Fifer, Aledo, Ill.:

I send four companies home this evening and think two more might as well go on Friday. I will run down to Springfield as soon as you have returned. Please inform me.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., June 1, 1890.

His Excellency, J. W. Fifer, Governor of the State of Illinois:

DEAR SIR—The Spring Valley Coal Company started men to work in the second vein at shaft No. 1 to-day. A large body of strikers gathered in the vicinity of the shaft. They, becoming riotous, with threats and intimidations, attacked me and my deputies while we were protecting the property, with stones, clubs and firearms, I being compelled to open fire upon them, and deeming my force insufficient to protect life and property and maintain the peace in Bureau county, it is absolutely necessary that troops be sent to Spring Valley by special train as soon as possible.

Very respectfully yours,

J. H. HENDERSON,

Sheriff of Bureau County, Ill.

SPRING VALLEY, June 1, 1889.

To His Excellency, J. W. Fifer:

An attempt was made this morning to start the Spring Valley Coal Mines. Mob violence prevails to such an extent that it is necessary to have one company of troops at the earliest moment. So far I have been able to protect the men and property, but dare not remove them from the mines until troops arrive.

J. H. HENDERSON,

Sheriff Bureau County.

SPRING VALLEY, June 1, 1889.

To His Excellency, Joseph W. Fifer, Governor State of Illinois:

In addition to one company troops ordered, it is absolutely necessary to send three more companies at once to Spring Valley by special train to protect life and property and maintain the peace of Bureau county. Have had great deal of firing at close quarters this evening from both sides, but still hold possession of the mine. Answer quick.

J. H. HENDERSON.

Sheriff Bureau County.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 1, 11 P. M.

J. H. Henderson, Sheriff Bureau County, Spring Valley, Ill.:

Will send three companies of militia to Spring Valley as quickly as they can be got there. They will report to you and be subject to your orders.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 1, 11:30 P. M.

J. H. Henderson, Sheriff Bureau County, Spring Valley, Ill.:

Have issued the necessary orders and the militia will concentrate at Spring Valley by special trains. They will be on the grounds by to-morrow morning. Report full particulars to me by letter, as required by law.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 1, 11:30 P. M.

General J. W. Vance, Braidwood, Ill.:

Sheriff of Bureau county called on Governor for troops for Spring Valley. Rock Island, Moline and Mendota ordered out. Colonel Clendenin ordered to take command. Governor would like for you to run over to Spring Valley if you can be spared at Braidwood. I will send tents and so forth from here.

THEO. EWERT,

A. A. General.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 1, 11:30 P. M.

Commanding Officer, 6th Infantry, Moline:

Governor directs you to take Companies "A" and "F" and proceed by special train to Spring Valley, reporting to Sheriff Henderson of Bureau county, to assist in maintaining the peace. "B" Company has been ordered to report to you. Companies to be fully armed and equipped, taking all their ammunition and blankets. General Vance will probably come over from Braidwood. Case is urgent. Rock Island has been requested to furnish you special train. Tents and so forth will be shipped at once. Take Surgeon, Adjutant and Quartermaster with you. Answer.

THEO. EWERT,

A. A. General.

BRAIDWOOD, June 2, 1889.

To Col. Theo. Ewert, A. A. General:

Just leaving here for Spring Valley with one company, will be there about 8 A. M. Address me there until further notice.

J. W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 2, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

I have arrived with one company for Braidwood. Clendenin's troops not here. No trouble since last night. Have not seen sheriff yet. Will report fully later.

J. W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 2, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Col. Clendenin and troops arrived at 5 P. M. to-day. The sheriff has about seventy-five deputies here. There has been no conflict between sheriff's force or troops with mob yet the situation to-day is annoying and perplexing, requiring the exercise of a great deal of discretion and forbearance by both officers and men because the mob is composed of as many or more women and children than men. The animosity is directed at the men who work machines in the mine. They threw stones to-day at those who took refuge in our camp. If there is nothing serious to report I will not wire you again until to-morrow. There is but one company at Braidwood. I don't think there is any doubt but it can be sent home on Tuesday. If the men don't go to work at Braidwood to-morrow or Wednesday, the operators will shut down.

J. W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 3, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Everything quiet last night and at this hour, 9 A. M. Sheriff Henderson is very efficient. Two of the leading agitators in making trouble, O'Hara and Burke, were arrested in the night and taken to Princeton. Some of the machine miners are at work this morning.

J. W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 3, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Good order has prevailed all day. I sent home the company I brought from Braidwood this morning and Clendenin will return one of his to-morrow. Mines have all shut down at Braidwood. Sheriff Huston has returned the arms I furnished his deputies. I will send home the remainder of troops at Braidwood to-morrow.

J. W. VANCE.

Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 5, 1889.

To Col. Theo. Ewert A. A. General:

I concluded to send another company home to-day, hence but one is here now. Tell the Governor, as I have not wired him to-day, the sheriff took eight prisoners to Princeton to-day and they were bound over and not able to give bail. I think I will get home Friday morning and will determine to-morrow about the further use of the company here. If you issued order detaining Bennitt make another relieving. Your letters and everything received. I am much pleased with your promptness in all matters.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

SPRING VALLEY, June 6, 1889.

To Gov. J. W. Fifer:

Sheriff Henderson says he can preserve order here and will not require the aid of military any longer. The remaining company will return home at 5 P. M. I will reach Springfield to-morrow morning.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

It is a fact worthy of note that the moral effect of the mere presence of the troops at Braidwood and Spring Valley, was alone sufficient to preserve law and order and to prevent further conflict between the disturbing element and the civil authorities. No higher compliment could be paid to the commanding officers and their men, or to the efficiency of the State troops; nor can a stronger argument be made in favor of a well regulated military force to come in as the strong arm of the Executive and Judicial departments, when the ordinary civil power fails, than by pointing to the results obtained on these and other occasions by the National Guard of Illinois, when law and order was preserved without the loss of life or the exercise of unusual force; at the same time the Guard preserving as an organization, the respect and good will of both parties to the issue.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the reports of Colonels Bennett and Clendenin, for the details regarding this service.

MILITARY TRAINING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

It is said that in the earlier ages, physical culture attained its highest development at the expense of the intellectual. In like manner the rapid progress of intellectual culture in our day has tended to the neglect, if not to the dwarfing, of the physical. In many private and public schools in the larger cities, innumerable experiments and methods for physical development are being tested. In the schools of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland, I am told there are more than one million pupils receiving military training. It is strongly advocated by some of the ablest officers in the U. S. Army. The promptness, obedience, and general discipline required in the best regulated public schools, furnish a good foundation on which to build for the more rigid requirements of military discipline. I do not doubt but that military training, as a means of physical culture in our public schools, would inculcate systematic and methodical habits, give greater strength and activity, result in an erect, graceful carriage, produce healthier bodies, more vigorous minds and a general alertness in character, that could be secured in no other way. The talent and ability which has surmounted every obstacle to education, that has given that grandest of object lessons in patriotism, by placing upon the public school building the starry emblem of liberty and equal rights, and that has made the free public school the crowning glory of American institutions, can successfully add to its curriculum, military training. The "Drill Regulations for the U. S. Army" should be the text book for physical culture in the public schools, and from the "Setting up Exercises" to the "Company in Action" they are practicable and applicable to the various grades, from the primary to the high school. Expression is given to these views with the hope of enlisting the thoughtful consideration and favorable action of those who have in charge the education of our youth, believing their adoption will result in great good to our state and country.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

During the biennial period just closed, in the Bureau of the National Guard, there were 4,100 letters received, 210 endorsements, 181 telegrams sent and received, 349 commissions issued, 120 insurance policies examined and registered, 36 general orders issued, 450 special orders with from 1 to 12 paragraphs each, 954 duplicate vouchers drawn and entered in ledger, 160 property returns examined, compared and checked. In addition, duplicate invoices were made for all public property issued, and the manuscript prepared for Laws and Regulations and Biennial Report. In the Bureau of War records there were 8,071 letters received, 2,647 sent, 5,967 certificates of service issued. There were added to the flags and trophies deposited in Memorial Hall, one of the 21st Infantry, one flag of the 108th Infantry and one Confederate flag captured at Utica, Mo., June 2, 1861, by John Hayden, Co. A, 16th Ill. Vol. Infantry.

Col. Theodore Ewert, Chief Clerk, Mr. Albert W. Arenz in charge of the War Records, Lieutenant Colonel John C. Bell, Assistant at the Arsenal and State Camp, and Captain Henry B. Reed, custodian of flags and trophies, are commended for the intelligent and faithful performance of their duties.

JOHNSTOWN FUND.

In your proclamation calling upon the public to aid the Johnstown sufferers, I was designated by your excellency to receive and transmit such monies as might be sent to me. I received $4,054.53 from various sources and transmitted the same to Thompson & Co., Bankers, Pittsburg, Pa., who were designated by the National Executive Relief Committee to receive contributions. A statement showing the names of donors and the amounts received is appended hereto.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is recommended that the sum of $120,000 per annum be appropriated for the ordinary and contingent expense of the Illinois National Guard.

That the sum of $25,000 or so much thereof as may be required, be appropriated for the purchase of the ground and equipment of a rifle range to be located as convenient to the troops stationed in the city of Chicago as it can be had.

You have my warmest thanks for the courteous consideration and interest you have taken in all matters affecting the National Guard.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.

REPORT OF BREVET LIEUTENANT-COLONEL GAINES LAWSON, U. S. A., ON THE ENCAMPMENT OF THE ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD, 1889.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., August 28, 1889.

GENERAL—In compliance with Special Orders, No. 139, current series, Adjutant-General's Office, and letter of June 17, 1889, I have the honor to submit the following report of the observations made by me of the condition of the Illinois National Guard at Camp Lincoln, Springfield, Ill., from July 6 to August 26, 1889.

Having arrived at Springfield on the 5th of July, I reported to his excellency Governor Fifer and Adjutant-General Vance, and ascertained that the Second Infantry, Col. H. A. Wheeler commanding, would be the first regiment to go into camp, and that they would arrive the next day, July 6, by 4:30 P. M. The command was in camp, and having been assigned a tent, I remained in the field during the entire encampment, placing my time at the disposal of each commander as he arrived.

ORGANIZATION.

The National Guard of Illinois is by law limited to four thousand officers and enlisted men, and is divided into two brigades. Enlistments are for three years. Some of the regiments have twelve companies, and others as low as eight; maximum, one hundred to a company; minimum, fifty. Officers are elected, field officers by line officers and company officers by enlisted men of the company. Colonels appoint their own staff. When called into service the officers receive the same pay as officers of like grade in the Army, while the enlisted men receive two dollars per day and subsistence. During encampment, not exceeding eight days in any one year, officers and men receive one dollar per day and subsistence. It is thought that the last legislature was not liberal enough in its appropriation for the support of the Guard, as it only appropriated $160,000 for the two years ending June 30, 1890 and 1891, against $270,000 for the two years ending June 30, 1888 and 1889.

The First, Second, Third and Fourth Regiments of Infantry and Battery D form the First Brigade; the Fifth, Sixth and Eighth Regiments of Infantry and Battery A form the Second Brigade.

The following extract from the regimental morning reports of Tuesday of each week shows the strength, present and absent, of each organization, with the date that each was in camp:

Organization.	Date.	Companies	Present.		Absent.		Total present and absent.		Absent, percentage of....

SUPPLIES.

Supplies are purchased by contract by the Adjutant General, who is ex-officio quartermaster and commissary-general, and all the duties that pertain to these departments are under his charge. * * *

UNIFORM.

Same as that worn by the U. S. Army, and is of a very good quality. The full-dress is not issued by the State. Clothing is issued free of cost, and remains the property of the State, and when worn out is replaced. Officers purchase their own uniforms. The Second Regiment has a full-dress uniform, purchased for them by the public-spirited citizens of Chicago.

ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

Springfield rifles, caliber .45 (with safety notch), McKeever cartridge boxes, waist-belts, etc., bayonet scabbards (steel), blanket-bags, haversacks, canteens, meat-cans, knives, forks, spoons, tin cups. In other words, each regiment is fully equipped, and can be placed in the field on very short notice, except tents, which are kept in the arsenal at Springfield.

CAMP EQUIPAGE.

The State has a sufficient number of tents to quarter the Guard, and are stored, when not in use, at the arsenal, a building owned by the State, in the city of Springfield. Bed-sacks, camp kettles, mess-pans, axes, spades, shovels, etc., are also supplied.

CAMP LINCOLN.

The post is situated about two miles northwest from the center of the city of Springfield, is owned by the State, and is in excellent condition. * *

RIFLE RANGE AND TARGET PRACTICE.

There is a most excellent range on the north half of the grounds, and is, thanks to that most zealous and painstaking officer, Col. James A. Shaffer, inspector of rifle practice of the State, complete in every detail. Each regiment has an inspector of rifle practice, with the rank of captain, who superintends the practice of his own regiment; but to insure uniformity the State inspector of rifle practice exercised a supervision over all, and, in fact, was on the range from morning until night.

The following rules determine the classification: Those making a total of 100 out of a possible 175, five shots being fired at 100, 200, 300, 400 and 500 yards, and added to this a total of ten skirmish shots, are called rifle-men; if 125 points are made the soldier is entitled to fire at 600 yards; if he increases his score to 150, out of a possible 200, he is a marksman, and is entitled to fire at 700 yards; when his score is raised to 175 at this point, he can fire at 800 yards, where a total of 200 out of a possible 250 makes him an expert, and entitles him to fire at 900 yards; if at this distance he makes a total of 225, he can retire to 1,000 yards; if enough points are added at this range to make 250 points out of a possible 300, he is a sharpshooter. The ten shots fired at skirmish and added to the score are fired under the following conditions: The men are deployed between the 500 and 600 yards' firing-point; B targets are used; in advancing, five shots are fired, one at each halt; retiring, the same rule governs. Hits are scored the same as at known distance; A targets are used at 100 and 200 yards; B targets at 300, 400, 500 and 600 yards; C targets at 700, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. Position at 100 and 200 yards, standing; 300 yards, kneeling or sitting; all other distances, any position with the recognized rules. It will be seen that the National Guard of this State are not governed by the same rules that govern the U. S. Army, consequently no comparison as to figure of merit can be made. The target season ends October 31.

INSPECTIONS.

The Second Infantry, of Chicago, Col. H. A. Wheeler commanding, was inspected July 10. This regiment has a young colonel, who is a fine disciplinarian, and all the duties of camp routine moved with clock-like precision. Drills very good; some of the battalion drills would reflect credit on any organization. The ceremonies of guard mounting (escort of the colors), parades, etc., were very good: guard duty well performed, when one takes into consideration that 50 per cent. of the men were never in camp before. Inspected this regiment July 9: arms of Companies C, E and G were found in excellent condition, while in the other companies inspected it was an exception to find a clean rifle. Police of camp and quarters very good. Discipline well maintained. Company officers have their own mess. This regiment is composed of a fine body of men, physically, and is, I am told, the only regiment in the State, except the First Infantry, that requires an examination by a surgeon before enlistment. Some complaints about lack of food in this regiment.

The First Infantry, of Chicago, Colonel Koch commanding, was inspected July 18; arms, with the exception of one rifle in Company C, one in Company E, four in Company F, and two in the guard, in very good condition. Brasses polished and accouterments clean. Police of camp very good. No complaint of an insufficiency of food in this command. Guard duty well performed, printed instructions to sentinels having been issued by the colonel. Drills good. The line officers mess by themselves, instead of with their men, as is the custom in some of the regiments. The regiment owns a Gatling gun, caliber .45, and is under the charge of Sergeant Ellett, Company F. The drill and military appearance of this detachment was very good. Great care has been exercised by the officers of this regiment in the selection of recruits; besides a physical examination, a recruit must serve two months on probation before he is enlisted.

Light Battery D, of Chicago, was inspected July 17, the battery being in camp with the First Infantry. They have four 12-pound guns, owned by the Citizens' Association of Chicago, and four Gatling guns, caliber .45, owned by the State. Some of the harness is badly worn. Police of camp and kitchens good. Drills, mounted, very good. Some practice was had with the Gatling guns: result, not very good; distance fired, 600 yards. Horses were hired for the battery, at $2 per day.

Third Infantry, Col. Thomas G. Lawler commanding, was inspected July 21. The formation was half an hour late. Marching, wheeling into line, fairly done. Some of the company officers were not in their proper place when in column of companies; these mistakes were pointed out to the colonel, who had them corrected. Arms, with few exceptions, were in very good condition. Police of camp very good. Guard duty fairly well performed, when it is remembered that in some companies over 60 per cent. of the men were never in camp before. Drills were very good toward the last days of the encampment. Guard mounting and parades fair. Two companies of this regiment are from Rockford, the remaining companies are from small towns, one in each, so that little or no opportunity presents itself for the colonel to have battalion drills. The company officers mess with their men. No complaint about food in this command.

The Fourth Infantry, Col. Fred. Bennitt commanding, was inspected August 4. The formation was slow. Marching, wheeling, and military appearance good. Arms clean, with the following exceptions: Eight in Company C, two in Company D, one in Company E, nearly all in Company G, whose rifles have been in use for eight years. Police of quarters and camp generally good, except Company B. In Company A, blankets, overcoats, etc., were in disorder. Kitchens, mess tents, etc., in good condition. The company officers mess with their men. No complaint of an insufficiency of food in this command. The drills by battalion, company and skirmish were fairly well done, considering they were new to a number of officers and men, the main trouble being the loss of distance between companies and fours. Some of the companies were well advanced in skirmish drill. At guard mounting errors were usually made by the guard wheeling as if on a moveable instead of a fixed pivot: in one case the junior officer of the guard could not wheel his platoon into line after passing the officer of the day. Although the colonel issued orders that each relief should be visited and instructed by the officers and non-commissioned officers of the guard, this important duty was not well performed. Military courtesy was not, as a rule, well observed in this regiment. The men, and I am told some of the officers, seem to think that they should not salute officers after retreat. Colonel Bennitt is a fine disciplinarian, and will, no doubt, correct these defects. The company officers mess with their companies. Two companies of this regiment are from Chicago, the remainder being from small towns in the northern part of the State.

Light Battery A, from Danville, was inspected August 10. The battery has four 3-inch rifle guns, belonging to the organization, equipped by the State. These guns were not brought to the encampment this year, but in their place four Gatling guns, caliber .45, were brought, with which the battery had some practice at targets—distance fired, 600 yards. The practice was had during a rain and was very good. The drill was very fair. The quarters' tents at inspection were not very well policed, neither were their mess-tents. This battery was encamped with the Sixth Infantry.

The Sixth Infantry, Col. William Clendenin commanding, was inspected August 11. The line was promptly formed; marching and wheeling into line very good. The arms and accouterments, with the following exceptions, were very good: Two in Company A, about all of Company B, two in Company D, ten in Company F, three in Company G, one in Company H. Tents and grounds, except Company B, were in excellent condition. About 40 per cent. of the men were never in camp before, including one entire new company. The company officers mess with their men. The promptness with which this regiment formed for all duty was an agreeable surprise, and their battalion, company and skirmish drills were very creditable, indeed. Their guard mounting and parades were well performed. In fact, the Sixth Infantry can congratulate itself upon having a colonel who is a strict disciplinarian and a good tactician. The regiment is located in the northwestern part of the State, with headquarters at Moline; no two companies in the same town.

The Eighth Infantry, Col. Rely M. Smith commanding, was inspected August 18. The line was slow in forming; marching and wheeling was fair; companies to the right of the colors lost distance; men, as a rule, were steady in ranks—a great improvement over their first formation on arrival in camp, when it was not uncommon to see men expectorate in ranks, wipe their faces, and turn their heads to watch the band as it passed in front of the line. At inspection the arms, with the following exceptions, were found clean: Company B, two; Company C, two; Company E, four—company was in bad condition: the captain of the latter company claiming that they had been in use for several years: yet in Company H the arms had been in use since 1881, and were found to be in excellent condition. Many of the cartridge boxes and belts showed long or rough usage. Blankets and bedding neatly folded and the tent floors were all scrubbed or washed the previous day. Police good except Company A and two tents in Company C. Mess-tents and kitchens were all clean and well policed, except Company H, where a detachment from another regiment had taken their breakfast without cleaning the mess-tent afterward. The guard was next inspected. Ten very dirty and one unserviceable gun was found. Guard duty was not well performed, owing to the fact that officers and non-commissioned officers did not seem to understand their duty. Lieutenant McWilliams was an exception; he handled his guard in a very creditable manner. There is little or no excuse for the neglect of this important duty, as the Adjutant General had taken the pains to have printed copies on guard duty furnished to each organization. Besides, the National Guard of the State is liable to be called out to protect (guard) property, and it seems to me that they should be thoroughly instructed in this duty. The regiment was drilled from four and a half to five hours each day. The battalion drills, like the guard mounting, were not well performed, owing to the inexperience of officers and guides, but fair progress was made before the week was over. I saw some of the companies have very good skirmish drills. It was quite evident that company and squad drills had been neglected by most of the companies. Military courtesy was well observed: it was an exception to meet a soldier of this regiment who did not have his blouse buttoned up and make the proper salute. * * * The enlisted men of this regiment, with perhaps the exception of Company G, are a fine body of men physically, and there is no reason why their company officers should not bring them to camp in better condition; this would enable the colonel to devote his time to battalion drills and other important duties. The regiment is from the southeastern part of the State, no two companies in the same town.

The Fifth Infantry, Col. James H. Barkley commanding, was inspected August 25, 1889. The line was promptly formed; marching and wheeling very good. Men steady in ranks. After wheeling into column of companies, and the ranks opened, some of the company commanders did not take their proper position; these errors, like others of a minor nature made during the encampment, were pointed out to Colonel Barkley, who had them corrected. I personally handled and inspected the rifle of every man present at inspection, in this as well as all other regiments, who took part in the encampment at Camp Lincoln from July 6 to August 26, 1889. The arms were clean, with the following exceptions: Two in Company F, two in Company K, and one in the guard. Company H's guns were in excellent condition. Some of the accouterments showed long or rough usage. Company G had left their haversacks home. Bedding neatly folded. Police of camp was as follows: Band, Companies A, E, I, M, and guard-tents fair; the remainder very good; mess-tents and kitchens good. During its encampment this regiment had, in addition to one hour's company drill, two battalion drills each day except Sunday. At first numerous mistakes were made by the officers and guides who were taking their first lesson in battalion drill, but before the week ended their drills were very creditable, and showed that the hard work that they had done was not in vain. The above remark will apply to their guard mountings, where errors were usually made in the wheels, both on a fixed and moveable pivot. Guard duty was fairly well performed, when it is remembered that over sixty per cent. of the men were never in camp before. Discipline was well maintained, and military courtesy between the officers and their men was well observed. I saw this regiment reviewed three times; once by his Excellency Governor Fifer, once by General Vance, and once by its colonel, Barkley, and on each occasion it presented a very creditable appearance, and Colonel Barkley and his officers deserve much credit for the manner in which they have performed their duty. Headquarters of this regiment and two companies are at Springfield, the remainder from towns in the central part of the State, one from each.

PERSONNEL.

The National Guard of Illinois is composed of excellent material, its officers and men being some of the most successful business men in the State, and the personal and pecuniary sacrifice they make in aid of the Guard is very commendable, indeed, and is, no doubt, properly appreciated by the majority of the citizens of this great State. In concluding this report, I desire to express my most sincere thanks to his Excellency Governor Fifer, Lieutenant Governor Ray, Adjutant General Vance, and the officers of the different regiments, for their courtesy and kindness extended to me during the encampment.

I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GAINES LAWSON,

Captain, Twenty-fifth Infantry.

The ADJUTANT GENERAL U. S. ARMY,

Washington, D. C.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL.

INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
CHICAGO, October 1, 1890.

The Adjutant General:

SIR—There having been no general inspection and muster of the Illinois National Guard under the Military Code of the State since 1888, there is not much to be added to my report made in that year, except to note some few changes in this department and in the Guard.

A number of special inspections have been ordered, the reports of which have been forwarded to general headquarters and are on file in your office.

By reason of there being no encampments of the troops at Camp Lincoln, as contemplated by the law, the condition of the Illinois National Guard is not so good as it was two years ago. The encampments could not be held, owing to the failure of the legislature to make adequate appropriations. Still, it must be said that very fair discipline prevails in the different commands throughout the State, and the troops are ready and capable of rendering good field service at any time. Of course, if the State does not deem it a wise policy to provide money to maintain the Guard, it will probably deteriorate every year until there will only be a few organizations of a purely voluntary character left out of what was once an efficient force.

The law provides for and contemplates an improvement in the State troops each year.

The Military Code provides (Art. V.) that the Inspector General, upon making the usual inspections and musters of the troops, "shall report to general headquarters the improvement in discipline and tactical instruction of the Illinois National Guard."

The legislature having failed to provide money for the schooling and discipline of the troops in camp, and no general inspection and muster having been ordered under the code, I am unable to report any very definite information on the subject.

There has certainly been no improvement over the condition of two years ago, unless in the case of a few organizations which have been specially reported on, and the reports already forwarded to you.

The regulations for the Illinois National Guard, prepared and published since your last report, are proving of great advantage in pointing out a course of procedure for officers in every branch of military duty. These regulations have been of great benefit in the Inspector General's department, in pointing out a uniform method for the inspection of damaged State property, with a view of condemning the same or returning it to the arsenal.

Since my last report, Lieut. Colonel James A. Shaffer has succeeded Lieut. Colonel James M. Rice as Assistant Inspector General, 2d Brigade, Colonel Rice having been promoted to the position of General Inspector of Rifle Practice, with rank of colonel.

Lieut. Colonel J. N. Buchanan has been succeeded by Lieut. Colonel F. Ziegfeld as Assistant Inspector General, 1st Brigade, Lieut. Colonel Buchanan having resigned, and ceases to be an officer of the I. N. G.

The changes in the various companies throughout the State are already noted in your report. They were in each instance manifestly for the good of the service. The companies mustered in are deemed of unusually good material. If they could receive proper instruction in camp, they would soon be reasonably efficient for active service.

The National Guard is absolutely necessary to the welfare and security of our State. With it, domestic disorder and riot are impossible. But it cannot be supported without financial aid from the State.

I regard the deterioration in the force during the past year as wholly owing to the neglect of the legislature in making adequate appropriations. I do not pretend to criticise the law-making power, but state simply a fact patent to every officer of the Illinois National Guard. It is surprising to note how well the troops have got along in spite of the lack of support, but the Illinois National Guard cannot under any circumstances go to pieces at once. It is too well organized for that, and has a past record to be proud of, which serves to unite it and keep up its military spirit. Officers and men feel rightfully that they deserve to be well and liberally treated by the law-making power. They are looking now with considerable anxiety to the future.

Very respectfully,

WILLIAM S. BRACKETT,

Colonel and Inspector General I. N. G.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Dec. 15, 1890.

Adjutant General, State of Illinois:

GENERAL—In compliance with orders from general headquarters, I have the honor to report that I have inspected the 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th and 8th Regiments of Infantry, and Battery "A," Illinois National Guard. Special reports of these inspections were forwarded to your office, through brigade commanders, soon after they were made. The inspection of the armories, books, etc., was usually made by daylight. The actual number present at inspections was noted on the special reports.

The 8th Infantry, Colonel R. M. Smith commanding, was inspected in May, 1890. The colonel being present at all inspections. This regiment is located in the southern part of the State, and only one company at each station. This command, with two exceptions, viz.: "E," at Robinson, and "L," at Olney, was found in good condition. The Robinson company has since been disbanded. Companies "F," at Greenville, and "I," at Vandalia, were in excellent condition. The 5th Infantry, Colonel James H. Barkley commanding, was inspected in June. This regiment is located in the central part of the State, with headquarters and two companies at Springfield, the remaining companies being at the county seat, with two exceptions, "D" at Quincy, and "M" at Canton, (these two companies have since been reorganized). The regiment was in very good condition. Companies "F" at Edwardsville, "B" Taylorville, "H" Decatur, "K" Delavan, were in very good condition.

The 3d Infantry, Colonel Thomas G. Lawler commanding, was inspected in June, 1890. Headquarters and two companies are located at Rockford. The other companies are at the county seats in the northwestern part of the State, with the exception of "A" at Waukegan, "F" at Rochelle, and "I" at Galena. The regiment was in good condition. The following companies were in excellent condition: Company "C," at Freeport; Company "H," Rockford, and "E," at Aurora.

Battery "A" at Danville was inspected in May. The battery was in very good condition. It seemed to be very well officered and their drill in the manual of the piece was very creditable.

The 1st Infantry, Colonel Charles R. E. Koch commanding, was inspected November 25, 1890. All the field and staff officers except the chaplain were present at inspection. While some of the companies did not turn out in very strong force, yet an average of eighty per cent. was present. There is an esprit de corp among the officers of this command that is most commendable, and Colonel Koch and his officers deserve great credit for the fine appearance of his regiment.

The regimental records were found posted to date and in excellent condition.

The 2d Infantry, Colonel Louis S. Judd commanding, was inspected by battalion, four companies each, on the 1st, 2d and 3d of December, 1890. All the field and staff officers were present.

The regiment did not turn out in very strong force. Only one company ("K" Remicks) had eighty per cent. present, while one (Stuart's), who was unavoidably absent, had less than fifty per cent. Only sixty-six per cent. of the entire command was present.

This regiment labors under the great disadvantage of having had fifty-nine promotions and appointments among its commissioned officers within the last eleven months. The present colonel is a young man of energy, with an experience of nine years in the Guard, and has great confidence that he will succeed in bringing the regiment to its former standard. The men are young and have evidently been selected with great care, but it was quite apparent that there has not been enough attention paid to the "School of the Soldier."

The regimental records were found posted to date and in excellent condition.

The fact that no appropriation was made by the State legislature for an annual encampment of the National Guard of this State for 1890, was a source of much regret by all the officers with whom I conversed on the subject. It is only at these annual encampments that it is possible for any of the regiments, except the 1st and 2d to assemble for drill and instructions. Therefore the errors that they may make at their company drills are perpetuated because there is no one to point out their mistakes.

In conclusion, I will say, that the Guard as a whole is in very good condition. Their devotion to duty in the past, when called upon to aid the civil authorities, is no doubt well known and properly appreciated by all lovers of law and order.

Very respectfully,

GAINES LAWSON,
Brevet Lieut.-Col. U. S. A.

REPORT OF THE SURGEON GENERAL.

ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE, SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 1, 1890.

General J. W. Vance, Adjt. Gen. I. N. G., Springfield, Ill.,

SIR—In making my biennial report, I have the honor, and it gives me pleasure to state, that with the lapse of time, evidences of genuine improvement are quite manifest. The improved condition of the camp grounds, as a whole, seems to have inspired the troops with that kind of pride that tells not only as a stimulus to the acquirement of tactical knowledge, but to the performance of every soldierly duty.

The neat and orderly appearance of the quarters—the attention given to general sanitary precautions—has, with each succeeding year, been so naturally a part of the recognized necessities of camp life, that, without the exercise of apparently increased efforts, improved results have not failed to follow, which go far in accounting for the uniform freedom from severe sickness among the troops.

The following reports, in detail, while they show temporary derangements, incident to the changed conditions of camp life, verify the above statement:

REPORT OF SURGEON ADAMS, 1ST. REGT. I. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST REGT. INFY., I. N. G.,
CHICAGO, ILL., July 25, 1889.

Col. F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General I. N. G.,

SIR—I have the honor to report that during the tour of duty just completed by the First Infantry there were two men excused from duty on account of disability from sickness, as follows: Malarial fever, 1; convalescent from pleurisy, 1. Neither of these men should have come to camp. One man was also excused from duty on account of injury, i. e. contusion of foot, not received in the line of duty. All other cases of sickness were trifling in their character and due to errors of diet or other imprudence. The uniformly good health of the command was owing undoubtedly to the excellent situation and sanitary condition of the camp itself. A detail of four men was instructed in "stretcher drill" and received instruction in first aid to the injured.

I am very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES ADAMS,
Major and Surgeon First Infy. I. N. G.

REPORT 2D REGT. I. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS 2D REGT. I. N. G.,
CHICAGO, ILL., August 5, 1889.

Col. F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General, I. N. G., Springfield, Ill.,

DEAR SIR—I have the honor to make the following medical and surgical report of the encampment of the Second Regiment Infantry, I. N. G., at Camp Lincoln, Ill., for the week ending July 13, 1889:

There were a few slight injuries reported, but none of more consequence than a burn of the great toe, and a dislocation of the second joint of a finger.

The only illness which threatened to result seriously was an acute bronchitis, case of Sergt. John McIntosh, Co. F.

The remaining cases were mainly bowel affections resulting from change of water, and not in any way attributable to military service.

The health of the camp was, on the whole, better than could have been expected, considering the number of men present and the excessive heat of the entire week.

Very respectfully yours,
E. L. HOLLISTER,
Major and Surgeon 2d Regt. I. N. G.

REPORT OF SURGEON W. W. COOK, 3D REGT. I. N. G.

WOODSTOCK, ILL., Nov. 10, 1889.

Col. F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General I. N. G., Springfield, Ill.,

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report of the 3d Regt. I. N. G. for the encampment of July 20 to 27, 1889, at Camp Lincoln:

Casualties (slight).....	2
Cases of sickness requiring one or more day's attention.....	33
Cases of sickness in hospital one day.....	20
Cases of sickness in hospital 4 days.....	6
Deaths.....

Much of the above sickness was of bowel troubles, cholera morbus and the like, due, no doubt, to the changed mode of life, indiscretions in diet, etc. The rations furnished by the State were a No. 1 in quantity and quality.

Very respectfully submitted,
Your obedient servant,

REPORT OF SURGEON W. L. SMITH, 4TH REGT., I. N. G.

STREATOR, ILL., August 13, 1889.

Col. F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General I. N. G.:

SIR—I have the honor to report the following casualties which occurred at Camp Lincoln during the tour of duty July 29 to August 5, 1889:

Three cases of sickness and two of injuries; nothing of a serious nature whatever.

The sanitary condition of the camp was good. Water greatly improved over former years. I wish to thank Capt. Louis Brechemin, of the Medical Department, U. S. A., for his efficient service in the drill of the hospital corps, and other services rendered the medical department, while in camp. I am respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

W. L. SMITH.

Maj. and Surgeon 4th Inf't, I. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS 5TH INFANTRY, I. N. G.

Col. F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General I. N. G., Springfield, Ill.:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report of the medical department of the 5th Infantry for the encampment of 1889.

The 5th Infantry reported with its full quota of medical staff with the exception of the assistant surgeon, who was unavoidably prevented from being present. During our tour of duty nothing of particularly marked importance in the way of sickness occurred.

The usual diseases incident to camp life, caused by change of water, diet, exercise and manner of living, were about all we had to contend with; also some slight colds of a catarrhal nature, caused by the cool nights we experienced. Sick call and the daily inspection of the sanitary condition of the camp were strictly observed. The men are learning to appreciate the meaning of the call, and each encampment ends with improvement in its observance. The daily inspection proved very beneficial, and it is due to its rigid enforcement that the areas in the immediate vicinity of the kitchen and dining tents were kept in such remarkably good sanitary condition.

One feature introduced at our last encampment is most praiseworthy and calls for special mention, the "litter drill by the hospital corps." In compliance with a communication from the Adjutant General's office, dated June 17, 1889, twelve men were detailed from the regiment to constitute the hospital corps. This detail was divided into three squads, and whenever company or battalion drill was taking place, one squad was always stationed on the color line; during dress parade, review or inspection, the whole detail was on duty. The object of this drill is the training of a squad to so maneuver the litter as to render aid in the quickest manner possible, and with the least discomfort and inconvenience to the sick or wounded. In the prescribed drill adopted, each position calls for its special work, and those occupying the several positions acting in unison, and each knowing when, how and what to do in his respective position, the patient is handled with a minimum amount of suffering. The practical benefits to be derived from the adoption of this drill were most satisfactorily demonstrated; during one week of duty there were several very hot days, and on both skirmish drill and dress parade men would drop from the ranks either from faintness or heat exhaustion. The squad on duty at the color line would immediately place the litter in position, lift the patient upon it and convey him to the hospital. All this being done quietly, quickly, gently and without any disturbance whatever, nor was was there any break in the line by men falling out to render assistance, as so often formerly occurred.

The men composing the corps enjoyed the work, took an active interest in it, and worked with zeal in perfecting themselves in the drill and becoming competent to fill any of the several positions. Several members of the corps since the encampment have requested their company commanders to endeavor to procure litters for them so they could organize a squad in the company and have drills.

To Capt. L. Brechemin, Assistant Surgeon, U. S. A., we are under many obligations for the initiatory instruction given us in this branch of practical work, and starting us in the method by which to utilize to its fullest extent this valuable aid to the citizen soldier.

A condensed statement from the daily sick reports gives the following:

Excused from duty.....	11
Afterwards reported for duty.....	8
Sent home.....	3
Incapacitated because of injury.....	2
Excused on physician's certificates.....	8

I remain, sir, respectfully yours,

B. B. GRIFFITH.

Maj. and Surg. 5th Inf., I. N. G.

SPRINGFIELD, August 12, 1889.

Surgeon General, Illinois National Guard, Springfield, Ill:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report of the operations of the hospital corps, 6th Regt., I. N. G., at Camp Lincoln, Ill., for the week ending August 12, 1889.

As this regiment was obliged to report without any medical officers or hospital steward, at the request of Colonel Clendenin, I assumed the duties of camp surgeon. An acting hospital steward was appointed and a hospital corps of nine privates, one man from each company, was detailed. An hour every morning was given to litter and ambulance drills, instruction in first aid to wounded, improvised methods of carrying wounded men, etc. The squads, with litter, were detailed in turn to attend the different drills, guard mounting and dress parade, one man was detailed daily to act as hospital nurse and orderly. By this arrangement prompt aid was rendered to sudden cases of sickness, nearly all of which proved to be of light nature and yielded readily to treatment. The privates of the hospital corps showed zeal and intelligence in learning the drill and attended to their other duties promptly and faithfully.

My thanks are due to Colonel Clendenin, Captain and Adjutant Simmons and Capt. Anthony for their courtesy and kind assistance.

The following is the record of cases excused from duty for sickness, during the week:

Total number of cases excused from duty.....	11
Returned to duty during week.....	9
Transferred to their homes.....	2

Of these cases, 5 were excused for acute diarrhea, 1 for malarial intermittent fever, 1 for valvular disease of heart, 1 for cervical adenitis, 1 for acute inflammation middle ear, 1 for contusion left foot, (struck by base ball) and 1 for contusion groin (from kick). Treated in hospital 8; in quarters, 3.

Mean strength of command, officers and enlisted men, including Battery "A," I. N. G., 473.

In the cases treated but not excused from duty the prevailing diseases were intestinal colic and acute diarrhea, due largely to errors in diet and climatic influences. In the early part of the week the nights were quiet cool and a large number of bowel troubles occurred. These steadily decreased in number as the nights grew warmer.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

LOUIS BRECHEMIN.

Asst. Surgeon, U. S. A., Camp Surgeon.

You will not fail to notice that the report of the 6th regiment, which, upon its face shows thoroughness and painstaking care, is made, not by either the surgeon or assistant surgeon of this regiment, but by a United States medical officer, detailed by the War Department for a special service, in which every command was specially interested, and the faithful performance of which imposed no light routine of duty.

Happily for the troops, through the courtesy of Captain Brechemin, they were well cared for after their arrival in camp, but had accident or misfortune overtaken them on the way, what excuse could have been made for the total lack of anything like the medical arm of the service?

I would suggest that steps to effectually guard against a repetition of such manifest negligence to the troops, by finding such officers, as feel the obligations of their office, to the extent that will ensure their presence with their regiments during the full period of active duties performed.

REPORT OF SURGEON MESERVE, 8TH REGIMENT, I. N. G.

HOSPITAL 8TH REGT., I. N. G.,

CAMP LINCOLN,

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Aug. 12, 1889.

Colonel F. L. Matthews, Surgeon General, I. N. G.,

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report of the 8th Infantry, I. N. G., for the 1889 tour of duty at Camp Lincoln.

Sixty-nine cases came under the surgeon's care from this large regiment, including four cases of minor injuries.

This regiment rendezvoused from the southern portions of the State, which may account for eighteen cases of malarial and intermittent fever, among the above number, mainly confined to Co's. G., I. and M.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR G. MESERVE.

Major and Surgeon, 8th Regt., I. N. G.

This report would be incomplete without mention of the hospital corps system adopted and organized during the last encampment. The detail by the War Department of Captain and Assistant Surgeon Louis Brechemin, U. S. A., to aid us in this, proved very acceptable, and he demonstrated a zeal in his instructions born of a conviction of its utility as a branch of our service. I deem it inappropriate to enter in this connection upon the arguments to show its value, other than to state in broad terms that the duties contemplated can only be performed by those who show an especial aptitude, and who have the full advantage of a special drill. Even the selection from the ranks of such as show natural aptitude is a duty requiring discrimination; and preparation for intelligent First Aid to the sick and wounded, can, by a proper course of instruction, be so imparted to the non-professional as to enable them to truly personate the surgeon in using such improvised means for immediate relief and safety, as the exposed situation in line of battle would permit. The great point at issue is, first, the use of prompt methods in every urgent necessity, and immediate transfer of the sufferer to such locality as will secure the services of the professional hand. The humanitarian principles involved in these practical methods cannot fail to recommend them to every thoughtful mind.

It is a matter of regret that the arrival of Captain Brechemin was, through unavoidable delay, too late for the accommodation of the 1st and 2d regiments, who occupied the camp the first and second weeks, also, by reason of an order from the War Department, his stay was so short that the 5th and 8th regiments were also disappointed in losing part of the benefit of his services as instructor. In view of these facts, and the real value of this hospital corps system, I would recommend that a request be made to the War Department for the detail of another medical officer to complete this work during the next encampment.

I make this suggestion with a great deal of confidence that the desired end will be attained, since the history of the past shows a ready acquiescence and hearty co-operation on the part of our able and experienced Adjutant General in every movement to forward the interest and efficiency of the medical department of the I. N. G.

It gives me pleasure to add that the general interest and proficiency of our entire medical staff is most satisfactory, and is in strict keeping with the general success of the Illinois National Guard, as a well disciplined military organization.

Respectfully submitted,

F. L. MATTHEWS,
Colonel and Surgeon General, I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL INSPECTOR OF RIFLE PRACTICE.

OFFICE OF GENERAL INSPECTOR OF RIFLE PRACTICE,
ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
PEORIA, ILL., Dec. 19, 1890.

GEN. JOSEPH W. VANCE, Adjutant General, Springfield, Illinois:

MY DEAR GENERAL—Enclosed I hand you the tabulated report of the rifle practice of the National Guard of this State for the year ending October 31, 1890. The conditions under which these honors were won are fully set forth in Article XV., Regulations for the Illinois National Guard. The fact that we have not had funds this year for a general encampment, and that the majority of the companies have no rifle ranges at home, has prevented any very general practice by the companies in the small towns of the State. The practice had by those companies who have had ranges is extremely commendable and satisfactory, and is an honor to the zeal, energy and perseverance of the individual enlisted men, as well as the officers of those companies.

We have had for some years a system of practice peculiar to our State, which we have found most efficient and practicable for the purpose of interesting and instructing beginners in this art and science, and efficient and satisfactory as it is we are unwilling to abandon it. It has been thought desirable to have something different, if not more difficult, to engage the attention and effort of those who have finished our special course of practice. Thus, by adopting one course, and finishing it, and then passing to another, something new is offered and the interest kept up, and a variety given to the practice. With a great deal of hesitation we adopted, as the qualification for distinguished sharpshooter, exactly the same requirements that are specified in Blunt's Rifle Firing for the qualification of the regular army soldiers as sharpshooters, with the additional requisite that the competitor for the honors of a distinguished sharpshooter must first have completed his course in our peculiar practice, and won the classification of sharpshooter in a previous year. This was done in order that we might have a certain class of men, who were practicing under exactly the same rules as the Regular Army, from whom to select teams for comparison, if not competition, with teams from other states, and possibly with the teams from the army. The result has been more than satisfactory. Where we anticipated there would be possibly eight or ten distinguished sharpshooters, we find we have qualified in the National Guard this year, notwithstanding the larger part of the National Guard were unable to practice at all, the whole number of thirty-eight distinguished sharpshooters, every one of whom has done all that is necessary to be done to make him a sharpshooter in the Regular Army of the United States, besides having previously done all that is required by our State system of practice to qualify as a sharpshooter.

As the tabulated reports are made up, you will easily observe which are the best and second best regiments in rifle firing in each brigade, and which are the first, second and third best companies in each regiment, each one of which are entitled to special mention in orders pursuant to General Order No. 13 from your office, dated October 5, 1890. It is earnestly recommended that these regiments and companies should be furnished with some emblem of their merit, to be held by them during the year and returned at the end of the year, in the same manner that those emblems are furnished in the Regular Army to the regiments and batteries making the best record in excellence in gunnery, under General Order No. 132, Headquarters of the Army, November 18, 1890. The prizes offered to individuals for individual excellence have been a great stimulant, and may almost be said to be the cause of the excellence attained in individual shooting, both in the National Guard and in the army. It is very desirable that a similar inducement might be offered for the excellence of organizations in order that those officers and men who have an interest in shooting may be induced to use all their influence with their comrades in the same organization to spur them up to like excellence, it being the chief object of a good military system of rifle practice to make every soldier a reasonably good shot, rather than to qualify a few extra shots.

I would earnestly recommend that, if possible, a reasonable appropriation should be secured to erect targets and provide rifle ranges for companies' use at their homes, wherever this can be done at a moderate expense. By this means the soldiers of the different companies might utilize such spare time as they could most conveniently take from their business in rifle firing, without additional expense to the State, and without loss of valuable time to the soldier, thus being a matter of great economy in every way. It is desirable, as far as possible, that rifle practice should be done at home, in order that the time of the soldier at annual encampments may be left free for such exercises, maneuvers, marching, camping and other military duties as can only be successfully engaged in with large bodies of troops. There would always be a necessity for some rifle practice at the annual encampments, but this would be more in the nature of an inspection and test of what had been accomplished at home, than a means of preliminary instruction in rifle shooting.

One of the difficulties in the militia or the National Guard is, to instill the spirit of discipline and subordination to lawful authority into the minds and habits of thought of officers and enlisted men. This desirable spirit is partly the result of the conclusions of reason and intelligence, and partly a matter of habit, having its best foundation in reason, and developed by uniform practice. It is best learned during the period when mind and habits are forming. The best and safest discipline is taught to the child in the well-regulated family, at his mother's knee, and in the early association of the son with his father, whom he loves and respects and honors. It is largely learned during the school years, in well-conducted schools. It is particularly well and efficiently developed in military schools wherever proper discipline is enforced and proper respect is shown by professor and pupil to each other.

We have several colleges in this State where military tactics and science constitute part of the curriculum, and I would recommend proper legislation be requested authorizing the students in these colleges pursuing military studies, to be enlisted as members of the National Guard, and that the college authorities be authorized to select, with the approval of the Governor, officers from among the college professors or students, who should be citizens of this State, to be commissioned by the Governor as officers of the National Guard, and that military discipline be regularly enforced in a military way in these classes. There should be a provision in the law, if one should be enacted, exempting these students from being called into active service before their graduation, until after the other military forces of the State, including the National Guard and the unorganized militia, should be called out; thus making them the last to be called for the defense of the State, during the time of their studies. At their graduation, it seems to me, it would be well, if such of them as have pursued their studies with credit to themselves, and have shown a proper spirit of subordination to law and order by the general observance of the rules and regulations of the institution, be divided into three classes according to their merit, considering their general conduct as well as their military discipline and proficiency in all the studies that are taught in the best military academies, and that the first or best class be commissioned as captains, the second class as first lieutenants, and the third class as second lieutenants, unassigned, in the unorganized militia, somewhat after the manner they are now commissioned; that they be allowed to resign their position as military student or cadet, and withdraw from the National Guard at any time, except when liable to court martial, and that their commissions in the unorganized militia be written to expire by limitation within three years after their graduation if they have not by that time found a position or been assigned to duties in the National Guard. This would simply organize companies of the National Guard in each college where military science is taught, and would be a school for officers and non-commissioned officers for the future National Guard of the State, officers and non-commissioned officers who would be possessed of a liberal education and would be likely to secure the respect and esteem of their fellow citizens, and be capable of filling military positions of trust and honor by reason of their general intelligence, as well as their military spirit and habits of discipline. They would be prepared not only to teach the tactics which most cultivated gentlemen are able to study and understand, and explain if you choose, but they would be able to teach and inculcate that peculiar something that makes the difference between a soldier and a mere military scholar, which is so hard to describe. The difference between that prompt and unhesitating, exact and loyal obedience which we call discipline, and the town-meeting sort of a way of conducting musters that used to be practiced by the old militia. An efficient discipline has been taught our modern National Guard partly by men who spent the formative period of their minds in the actual active campaigns of the civil war; boys in service at that time who had discipline made their second nature by service in the presence of the enemy where the necessity of that discipline was so apparent as to cause obedience to be rendered unhesitatingly. Those boys will soon be too old for the service, and their places must be supplied. I have often revolved the question in my mind, how this can best be done. It seems to me that one way that would be efficient, if practicable, and I see no reason now why it should not be practicable, is to absolutely enlist the boys in our colleges and schools who make a study of military matters, in the National Guard, and enforce the strictest military discipline and in a military way at that period of their lives when such discipline is possible, and when the enforcement of it will leave its impress forever on their character, making them the best of citizens for all positions of civil life, and qualifying them in case of need, for soldiers in time of war.

I have been able to think of no other plan which would seem to me to give the same promise of success, in supplying this indispensable element to the National Guard.

If this system should be adopted, I would recommend that at each of these schools, rifle ranges be established, and that rifle shooting and gunnery as a philosophical science be taught these military cadets, and that they be afforded ample opportunities to put into practice on the range at known distances and in the field as skirmishers, all that they may be able to learn in the class-room, and that they all be taught not only the science itself, but also how to teach it.

Thanking you, General, for much substantial assistance, and kind words, I remain yours faithfully,

JAMES M. RICE,

General Inspector of Rifle Practice, Illinois National Guard.

REPORT OF COLONEL FRED. BENNITT, 4TH INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH INFANTRY,
ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
JOLIET, ILLINOIS, June 8, 1889.

Brigadier General J. W. Vance, Adjutant General State of Illinois, through headquarters First Brigade, I. N. G.:

SIR—I have the honor to make the following report of the operations of the troops under my command, aiding the sheriff of Will county, State of Illinois, in the preservation of the peace in and about Braidwood, in the county aforesaid, and the sheriff of Bureau county, at Spring Valley, in Bureau county, State of Illinois.

At 1:20 P. M., May 27, 1889, at Joliet, Illinois, I received the following order by telegraph:

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 27, 1889.

COL. FRED. BENNITT:

The commander-in-chief directs you to at once concentrate your regiment and report with it to the sheriff of Will county, at Braidwood, for the purpose of preserving the peace. You have been detached from the first brigade for this purpose. Direct your quartermaster to at once make the necessary arrangements to subsist the troops. General Vance goes north on the Alton to-day. No orders have been sent your companies from here. Ordnance and quartermaster stores go north on the evening Alton train in charge of Col. Dana. Concentrate your companies at Braidwood at the earliest possible moment.

THEODORE EWERT,
Assistant Adjutant General.

Pursuant to the foregoing order I directed Captain Haven, regimental adjutant Fourth infantry, to telegraph to company commanders of the Fourth infantry, directing them to assemble their various companies. Companies A, of Streator; G, of Bloomington; H, of Kankakee, were directed to proceed to Gardner, a point eight miles southwest of Braidwood, and await orders. Company B was ordered to assemble in its armory in Joliet. Company D, of Ottawa; F, of Sublette; C and E, of Chicago, were ordered to proceed with all possible dispatch to Joliet, where, with my field and staff, and company B, I awaited them. For some unknown reason the service rendered by the Western Union Telegraph Company was lamentably poor. Dispatches were placed in their office at Joliet at 2 o'clock P. M. of May 27th, but in some cases it was as late as 6 o'clock before they were delivered, thus delaying the assembling of the companies to a late hour of that date. Company B was ready at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and could have proceeded to Braidwood at once, had it not been deemed desirable to make a demonstration in force rather than to scatter the companies along one at a time, and thereby endanger a conflict, as the strikers were reported numerous and well armed. During the time that we were waiting the wildest rumors of destruction of life and property at Braidwood were current in Joliet. The delays caused by the failure to deliver the telegram at Ottawa promptly made special transportation necessary for company D from Ottawa to Joliet, where it arrived about 9 o'clock. It was not deemed advisable to wait any longer for troops from Chicago, but a special train was prepared on the Chicago and Alton railroad, and companies B and D, with the regimental trumpeters, the staff and myself, proceeded to Braidwood proper by way of the main line. The train was then switched to what is known as the "J" shaft of the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermilion Coal Company, a point about two miles northwest of the business centre of the city of Braidwood, arriving there about 11 P. M.

I found Sheriff Huston, of Will county, to whom I reported, and from whom I received the following:

BRAIDWOOD, ILLINOIS, May 27, 1889.

COL. FRED. BENNITT, Commanding State Troops at Braidwood:

SIR—I desire you to make such disposition of your troops as may seem best in your judgment to aid me in preserving the peace in Will county. You are hereby directed and commanded to disperse all mobs or persons assembled for unlawful purposes, to make arrests and capture as prisoners all unlawful assemblies, and to use all the force at your command for that purpose.

ROBERT HUSTON,
Sheriff of Will county, Illinois.

Sheriff Huston had on duty a large force of deputies stationed in and about the shaft or top house of the mine called the "J" shaft. He stated to me that during the afternoon a large force of miners, mostly Italians, had, under the leadership of a man known as "Garabaldi," simultaneously attacked his force of deputies at the mine from three different quarters, driving the deputies away, and filled up the shaft with empty coal cars, and carts and props, and other materials, with the idea of disabling the mine. They attempted to displace the machinery, but failed in that particular. He also stated that a large portion of the rioters were well armed, numbers of them with rifles, others with pistols and knives. He also stated that at "Monkey Robinson's Corners," a mile and a half north of "J" shaft, during the day a large party of Italians, numbering several hundred, had been drilling, preparatory to resisting the operations of the troops.

Guards were posted on the prop piles in the vicinity of the track on which the cars stood, and the men told to go to sleep. At 1 A. M. of the 28th, Companies A, G and H arrived, and were likewise switched to "J" shaft. Companies C and E arrived at Braidwood proper at 1:15 A. M., where they were quartered. In a large hall in the town, until daylight, when they were placed on board cars and also switched to the "J" shaft.

As the sheriff and his deputies reported that an attack by the rioters was probable at 3:30 A. M., I caused the troops under my command at "J" shaft to be aroused and stand in the aisles of the cars with their equipment on, until broad daylight, thus to be ready to meet any aggressive action on the part of the rioters. Before leaving Joliet, I directed my Quartermaster, Lieutenant H. B. Smith, to purchase the necessary rations for one day for 400 men, so that upon the arrival of the camp equipage from Springfield, at 6 A. M., fires were built along the track near the cars, and the men cooked their breakfast. As daylight advanced, large crowds of the rioters gathered upon the adjoining mound made of the clay taken from the mines, and watched us. As soon as breakfast had been eaten, I caused the battalion to be formed, and arms stacked, the knapsacks unslung and left with the stacks, and retained the right wing to guard the stacks, while the left wing proceeded to pitch its camp on a slight elevation to the west of the "J" shaft. While this work was proceeding, large crowds of the strikers gathered at Diamond, about 60 rods west of our camp. I made further disposition of the troops so as to protect against any possible attack, and proceeded with the work of establishing the camp. Meantime, the strikers, or spectators, as the case may be, became more interested in the work, and gathered quite near our line, to the number of 250 or 300 people. The sheriff and his deputies reported a number of the rioters of the day before in the crowd. By simultaneous action the crowd was placed in control of the troops, and the deputies were directed to select out the rioters. The Italians of the crowd, who seemed to be the only ones towards whom suspicion was at all directed, were brought out and thoroughly searched, eight of whom were taken to the guard-house. The others of the Italians who were found without arms were directed to disperse and go to their homes, which they did without resistance or demonstration of any kind, and I am convinced that the greater portion of the crowd about our camp came from mere curiosity, and not with the idea of molesting us in any particular. Meantime, the camp had been fully established, which I had the honor of designating "Camp Fifer."

During the morning of May 28th, I was called upon by Sheriff John Schroeder, of Grundy County, whose jurisdiction extended to within about 60 rods of our camp on the west, including the settlement called Diamond. Complaint had been made that the trouble heretofore existing had its origin in his county, and that the men came into Will county, made their demonstrations and destroyed property, and fled back into Grundy county, outside of the jurisdiction of the sheriff of Will county. He accordingly gave me the following directions:

"J" SHAFT, WILL COUNTY, ILL., May 28, 1889.

Col. Fred. Bennett, Commanding Troops:

As Sheriff of Grundy county I direct you in assisting the Sheriff of Will county in preserving the peace, to enter the county of Grundy in pursuit of or for the purpose of capturing any unlawful offenders or armed parties.

JOHN SCHROEDER,
Sheriff of Grundy County, Ill.

During the forenoon Company F, of Sublette, arrived after traveling 106 miles by three different railroads from 10 o'clock of the night before. The camp guard, consisting of Company B, was mounted, with Captain Jackson as officer of the day. Immediately after noon Sheriff Huston asked for detachments, simultaneously, to go to Monkey Robinson's Corners, Diamond and Godley, the last named place being a point on the main line of the Chicago and Alton Railroad two miles south of Braidwood station. I accordingly directed Companies A and G, under the command of Major Monroe, to proceed to Monkey Robinson's Corners, and Companies C and D, under command of Captain Blanchard, to Diamond, and Companies E and H, under command of Captain Ford, to Godley. Each of these expeditions were accompanied by deputies under whom they acted. The deputies under the protection of the military, made a thorough house to house search for arms in these three settlements. Little or no resistance was encountered, and but two old shotguns found. Either the few arms in possession of the rioters had been effectually hid, or imagination had multiplied the number to a wonderful extent. The expeditions returned to camp before nightfall without accident and practically without incident.

During the afternoon and early evening the men of the command industriously prepared their quarters against the rigors of the weather, a precaution very valuable. During the evening no demonstrations were made by the strikers, except the firing of pistols and rifles at different points and occasional shouting.

The morning report for May 28 showed a total of 414 officers and men present.

During the night of May 28 a heavy rain set in, which continued, almost without intermission, until Saturday, June first. The storm was accompanied by high winds from the north, which were a severe test upon the health of the men, as well as upon the tents composing the camp. The care taken by the men in pitching their tents and making floors of the material at hand was of great value, as the pouring rain was at times sufficient to make lakes of the streets of the camp. During this time, however, no man was excused from duty on account of sickness or other cause. The presence of the troops and the weather seemed to have thoroughly overcome any riotous intentions on the part of the strikers. On Thursday, May 30, I received verbal orders to relieve four companies of the command. Accordingly, Companies A, B, C and G were ordered home, and took their departure from camp in time to arrive at their respective stations during the evening of that day. By Friday night events had so quieted that it was deemed safe to relieve two other companies, and Companies F and H were returned to their respective stations. During the time of our presence at "J" shaft, miners, varying in numbers from 25 to 80, worked in this mine. On Friday afternoon the miners held a meeting in the City of Braidwood, and decided upon a general strike, and notice was posted by the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermilion Coal Company for all men desiring to quit work to remove their tools from the "J" shaft, which was done to a great extent on Saturday. Preparations were then made to establish a one-company post, with the idea of a long stay being required on the part of the troops.

At 1:30 A. M., Sunday, June 3, I received orders to send Company E of my command, Captain T. J. Ford commanding, to Spring Valley, Bureau county. Accordingly the men were roused, prepared their breakfast, and left our camp at the "J" shaft at 4 A. M., taking the Chicago and Alton Railroad to Joliet, and going west by a special train over the Rock Island road. They arrived at Spring Valley about 9 A. M., and proceeded at once to the shaft where the day before the striking miners had made a demonstration against the sheriff's posse on guard at that point. During Sunday they were called upon to resist riotous demonstrations, and later on were re-inforced by three companies of the Sixth Infantry. The three companies of the Sixth Infantry, under command of Col. William Clendenin, being deemed sufficient for the situation, Company E was relieved on Monday morning, and returned to their station at Chicago. The force at Braidwood being now reduced to one company, with the regimental quartermaster, a medical officer and myself, the morning report for Monday, June 4, showed a total of 51 officers and men in camp. On Sunday information was received of the intention of the coal company to suspend operations pending the trouble. Accordingly, on Monday morning, the work of hoisting the mules from the shaft was begun, and other preparations made for an indefinite suspension of all mining operations. On Sunday I received the following telegram:

SPRING VALLEY, ILL., June 2.

COL. FRED BENNITT:

Wire me to-morrow afternoon what the sheriff has done about replacing your force with deputies. Tell him you will be withdrawn Tuesday.

J. W. VANCE, Adj. Gen.

In response to which I sent the following:

BRAIDWOOD, ILL., June 3, 1889.

GEN. J. W. VANCE, Spring Valley, Ill.

Sheriff had twenty-four deputies. Sent all home. Mines all being shut down. Mules brought to surface. Sheriff will maintain four deputies at each shaft. Will load arms issued to sheriff with stores for Springfield. Think situation permits withdrawal of troops to-morrow.

FRED BENNITT, Colonel.

Sheriff Huston on Monday brought 24 deputies who were to be placed in charge, but, upon learning that the Coal Company would make no further effort to operate their mines, he sent his men home without placing them on duty. When he called upon me at Camp Fifer, I handed him the following notice:

CAMP FIFER,

BRAIDWOOD, ILL., June 3, 1889.

SHERIFF ROBT. HUSTON, Joliet, Ill.

DEAR SIR—Please take notice that the troops under my command will be withdrawn from the Braidwood coal fields on Tuesday, June 4, 1889, pursuant to orders received from Brig. Gen. J. W. Vance, Adjutant General.

FRED BENNITT, Colonel 4th Inf.

During Monday afternoon I received the following telegraphic order:

SPRING VALLEY, ILL., June 3.

COLONEL FRED BENNITT, Braidwood,

I sent Ford home this morning. You can withdraw all troops to-morrow. Dana will reach Braidwood about 2 P. M.; prepare invoices; he will receipt for property. No disorder here since troops came, but a meaner crowd than yours.

J. W. VANCE, Adj't. Gen.

On Monday the tents were sufficiently dry for striking and transportation, and all those not in use were struck, and, with the other camp equipage unused, loaded on board cars for return to Springfield, and Tuesday the remaining portion of the camp equipage was loaded on board cars.

At 10:30 A. M., Tuesday, pursuant to the order of the day before, Company D, myself and staff, marched out of Camp Fifer, and took cars for transportation to Joliet, from which point Company D was transported to its station at Ottawa.

The largest number of officers and men present at any one time is shown by the morning report of May 29th, when 427 were present for duty, and it is worthy of special mention that during the whole tour of duty, not a single officer or man was relieved or excused from any obligation placed upon him, though many were soaked to the skin for hours. The rations issued were satisfactory, both in quantity and quality. Although this tour of duty was without bloodshed, it demonstrated to my satisfaction that campaigns of this character are frequently made bloodless by a strong display of force, thus insuring the safety of those requiring protection, and demonstrating to the lawless that the State is powerful, and can compel obedience to its laws.

The train service rendered by the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company was certainly worthy of special mention, as everything was done by it, both at Braidwood and elsewhere, to insure promptness in handling the troops, both going to and returning from the scene of troubles.

My thanks are due to the kind coöperation of the Adjutant General and Lieut. Colonel G. S. Dana, A. A. Q. M., in charge of State property, and to the members of my staff for the efficiency with which they performed their respective duties, and to the officers and men of the command generally for the prompt and efficient manner in which they yielded up the comforts of many delightful homes for the hardships of a life in the field and the rigors of the severest weather, and subjected themselves to the exacting demands of the military service. It served to illustrate again, as has been illustrated many times before, that the present volunteer system, known as the National Guard, is possessed of enough of intelligence, discipline and patriotism to merit hearty support on the part of the State, and the commendation of all people who love our free institutions.

Very respectfully submitted,

FRED BENNITT,

Colonel 4th Infantry, Illinois National Guard.

REPORT OF COLONEL CLENDENIN, SIXTH INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTH INFANTRY,
ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
MOLINE, ILL., June 10, 1889.

Gen. J. W. Vance, Adjutant-General.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit to you my report of tour of duty at Spring Valley, Ill., June 2d to 6th inclusive.

I received the following dispatch at 10:20 A. M., Sunday, June 2d.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 1st, 11:30 P. M., 1889.

Commanding Officer Sixth Infantry, Moline, Ill.

Governor directs you to take Companies A and F and proceed by special train to Spring Valley, reporting to Sheriff Henderson of Bureau county, to assist in maintaining peace. B company has been ordered to report to you. Companies to be fully armed and equipped, taking all their amunition and blankets. Gen. Vance will probably come over from Braidwood. Case is urgent. Rock Island (R. R.) has been requested to furnish you a special train. Tents, etc., will be shipped at once. Take surgeon, adjutant and quartermaster with you. Answer.

(Signed.)

THEO. EWERT,
A. A. Gen.

This dispatch should have reached me a little after midnight, but the W. U. Telegraph Co., maintain no night office at Moline. The dispatch was held at Rock Island until 10:00 A. M. next day. The contents of the dispatch should have been sufficient to signify the urgency of the case, and an effort made to reach me.

At 1:45 P. M. Company A left Rock Island. Were joined at Moline by myself with Company F and staff. Proceeded to Spring Valley, arriving there about 4 P. M.

Co. B, 6th Infantry was already there, as also, Co. E, 4th Infantry, who had accompanied Gen. Vance from Braidwood. The companies had gone into camp and pitched their tents at a point not far distant from and commanding a good view of coal mine shaft No. 1.

The following is a summary of Capt. Higgins', Co. B, report to me, his company going from Mendota over C. B. & Q. R. R.:

Col. Wm. Clendenin, Comd'g 6th Inf. I. N. G.

DEAR SIR:—Following is report, as requested, of duty performed at Spring Valley, June 2d to 4th, inc.:

Co. B. received orders at 4:30 A. M., June 2, 1889; was ready to leave at 9:50 A. M., but was delayed at depot 30 minutes for "train orders," leaving at 10:20 A. M. Arrived at Spring Valley; found the populace all out but rather quiet.

There was some yelling, cat calling, etc., and several stones were thrown, one striking one man in the leg, but not hurting him. I reported to Capt. Ford, comd'g E Co. 4th Inf., at the camp, finding him behind his guns with a guard of ten men on duty: he asked me to relieve his guard, which I did, and then forced crowd back, partly by persuasion, but in some cases at the point of the bayonet. From noon until 3 P. M. the crowd increased, but aside from a drunken striker nothing of importance occurred. On your arrival there was quite a disturbance and the assembly was sounded.

With your permission I wish to compliment Co. B for their willingness and promptitude in reporting at armory.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

E. F. HIGGINS,
Capt. B Co. 6th Inf.

Upon my arrival there I reported to Adj.-Gen. J. W. Vance and to Mr. Henderson, sheriff of Bureau Co. I found the sheriff had quite a force of deputies, armed and guarding the coal company's shaft. The trouble I learned had been caused by the stoning of the buildings at shaft No. 1, and the threatened burning of same, by former miners of the Spring Valley Coal Company the night previous.

Around two sides of our camp were a crowd of 300 to 400 men, women and children, some of whom were very much excited, and it was very difficult to keep them back from our guard line.

After the first twenty-four hours the duty was very monotonous, and not marked by anything of an exciting nature. There was the usual number of exaggerated reports and rumors of miners from other places concentrating there for the purpose of causing trouble.

A meeting was held Tuesday morning in a grove near the C. B. & Q. depot, at which there was 500 to 600 miners in attendance, but it was a very quiet and orderly meeting.

Company E 4th Inf'ty, Capt. Ford, was sent home Monday forenoon, June 3d. Company B 6th Inf'ty, Capt. Higgins, Tuesday evening, June 4th. Company A, Capt. Channon, Wednesday afternoon, June 5th, and Thursday afternoon, June 6th, I returned home with Co. F, Capt. Keesler, the sheriff not deeming it necessary to keep troops there any longer.

Monday night I furnished the sheriff a detail of one officer and thirteen men to guard shaft No. 1, his men remaining in the building, but desirous of getting some sleep.

Apparently but little effort was made to induce men to go to work in the mines, while we were there. Some fifteen or twenty men were at work in shaft No. 1, working by the day.

The women, wives of the miners, were especially very much excited and abusive to our men, who did their duty in a soldierly manner under very trying circumstances.

The consolidated returns showed present:

	SIXTH INFANTRY.		CO. E FOURTH INFANTRY.		TOTAL.
	Officers.	Men.	Officers.	Men.	Officers.	Men.
June 2d.....	15	111	2	51	17	162
June 3d.....	15	117	2	51	17	168
June 4th.....	12	118			12	118
June 5th.....	11	79			11	79
June 6th.....	6	49			6	49

I cannot close this report without calling your attention to the promptness with which the officers and men responded to the call for duty, and the soldierly manner with which they performed whatever duty was required of them.

Very respectfully,

WM. CLENDENIN,
Col. Com'd'g 6th Inf'y, I. N. G

REPORTS OF REGIMENTAL COMMANDERS ON CAMP DUTY, 1889.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,
ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
CHICAGO, ILL., August 31, 1889.

Brig. Gen. J. W. VANCE, Adjutant General, State of Illinois, Springfield, Ill.:

SIR: In obedience to G. O. No. 12, C. S., Adjutant General's Office, I have the honor to submit the following report, as Post Commander at Camp Lincoln, from July 13 to July 20, inclusive: Conformably to G. O. No. 65, C. S., Adjutant General's Office, the troops stationed at the post during this period consisted of the First Infantry and Battery D, Illinois National Guard.

Both commands reached Camp Lincoln at an early hour in the afternoon of July 13, having been transported in separate trains by the Illinois Central R. R. So far as my own regiment is concerned, I deem it but just to state that our transit to and from camp was more expeditious and less vexatious than at any previous tour of duty.

I assumed command immediately upon arrival in camp as Post Commander and announced the following staff:

Capt. W. L. De Remer, Adjutant 1st Infantry—Post Adjutant.

Major Charles Adams, Surgeon 1st Infantry—Post Surgeon.

First Lieut. A. L. Bell, Regimental Quartermaster, 1st Infantry—Post Quartermaster and Acting Assistant Commissary of Subsistence.

An order was also promulgated establishing the hours for service calls. The Regimental Quartermaster, Lieut. A. L. Bell, had preceded the command with a fatigue detail and cooks, and the regiment found the camp in complete readiness for occupancy, an excellent and well-cooked supper being in readiness for the entire command promptly on time for the first "mess call". On Sunday, the 14th inst., preparation was made for a review and inspection by Col. Gaines Lawson, of the 25th U. S. Infantry, the officer detailed by the War Department, but before the ceremony of review was half completed a drenching shower made it necessary to dismiss the command.

Sunday afternoon divine services were held at 4:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas, Regimental Chaplain, which were preceded at 3:30 o'clock by a sacred concert by the regimental band. A large attendance of citizens shared in the enjoyment of the exercises with the officers and men of the command. Guard mounts were held on seven and dress parades on six days.

The drills consisted of a setting-up drill of ten minutes each morning immediately after reveille roll call; a battalion drill of one and one-half hours each on five days, and company skirmish drills of an hour each on five days. Blank ammunition was used by both commands during some of the drills. The 1st Infantry furnished its ammunition at private expense.

Each company completed a tour of rifle practice under the general instruction of the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, and the immediate supervision of the Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice.

The battery held mounted drills every day, using their field pieces. They also spent Thursday afternoon at the rifle range with the Gatling battery in practice on the targets.

The 1st Infantry was minutely inspected by Brevet Lieut. Col. Gaines Lawson, 25th U. S. Infantry, on Wednesday forenoon, July 17, by companies in the company streets. Battery D was inspected in the afternoon of the same day by the same officer. On Thursday the Honorable L. B. Ray, Acting Governor, and Brig. Gen. Chas. FitzSimons and staff visited camp. Each was received with an appropriate salute upon entering the post, Major Tobey, with his battery, firing the same. On the afternoon of that day, Governor Ray, accompanied by his staff, and Gen. FitzSimons and staff, and Col. Lawson reviewed and inspected the infantry.

With the consent of the War Department, and upon my request, Lieut. Philip Reade, 3d U. S. Infantry, Inspector of Small Arms Practice, Military Division of the Missouri, was present during the entire week of our encampment, as a special instructor in rifle practice in the methods now in vogue in the army. A detail consisting of Lieut. W. F. Knoch and Lieut. J. A. Clarke, 1st Infantry, and nineteen enlisted men were assigned to him. They performed no other duty. Lieut. Reade is an enthusiast on the subject of this important branch of a soldier's duty, and an indefatigable worker, and he possesses the rare quality of imparting his enthusiasm and ceaseless energy to those under his guidance. This was clearly shown by the fact that, although the detail was worked harder than any other men in camp, their duty was performed without complaint. The result of the work will probably be made the subject of a report to the War Department by Lieut. Reade.

On Monday night, July 15, in order to test the readiness with which a National Guard regiment could be assembled at night without previous caution, I awoke Capt. DeRemer, Regimental Adjutant, at 1:10 A. M., and instructed him to quietly assemble the field music on the color line. Lieut. Philip Reade, Inspector Small Arms Practice, Division of the Missouri, had accompanied me on my rounds, and he also was made acquainted with my purpose at this time. At 1:20 A. M. the Adjutant signaled that the field music was in position, and Lieut. Reade in rapid succession discharged a rifle, and the bugle corps sounded "to arms" and the drum corps beat the long roll. Lieut. Col. Turner was the first officer to report on the color line. Company E and the Gatling section reported in three minutes from the time the first note was sounded, and the entire command was turned over to me in eight minutes. The discrepancy in time was occasioned by some of the companies stopping to equip themselves in heavy marching order. In just thirteen minutes from the time the first shot was fired, a message was received from Major Tobey, advising me that his battery was ready to move and awaiting orders.

As the regimental commander, I made instruction in the duties of sentinels and guards, and the observance of military courtesy, the especial feature of the encampment, and I feel no diffidence in saying that the performance in this respect was more than gratifying to myself. On five nights I personally made the grand rounds between the hours of 12:30 A. M. and 2:00 A. M., and found the challenges uniformly correct and sharp, and the answers to interrogations of sentinels given in a prompt and certain manner, indicating clearly that the officers of the command had fully seconded my efforts in that direction.

Camp was broken at 8:00 A. M. on Saturday, July 20, the regiment embarking promptly at 9:00 A. M. (the hour appointed) to resume its permanent station. The battery departed over an hour earlier.

The camp was left in an absolutely clean condition, Lieut. Col. Turner and Major Lauman taking special supervision of the final policing.

The health of the command during the entire week was excellent.

The rations issued seemed to be satisfactory, both in quality and quantity, and the food, as served under a bill of fare previously arranged by the Regimental Quartermaster, gave entire satisfaction.

No serious breach of discipline marred the entire week's tour of duty, and, before closing this report, I deem it not only a duty, but a high privilege, to testify to the hearty coöperation of every officer and man of the encampment in the effort to make the same a successful school of instruction.

To Col. Gaines Lawson, 25th U. S. Infantry, we feel indebted for numerous hints and suggestions, given in an exceedingly coy, unostentatious and unobtrusive manner, but which have proven themselves all the more beneficial by reason of the kindliness with which they were imparted.

This report was delayed beyond the time specified in General Order No. 12, C. S., by reason of my absence on leave from the State.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

CHARLES R. E. KOCH,

Colonel 1st Infantry, I. N. G.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER, FOURTH INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH INFANTRY,
ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD,
JOLIET, ILL., Aug. 13, 1889.

BRIGADIER GENERAL, J. W. VANCE, Adjutant General, through Headquarters First Brigade, I. N. G.

SIR—Pursuant to Special Order No. 65, General Headquarters, of date

I have the honor to report that the Fourth Infantry, Illinois National Guard, proceeded to Camp Lincoln, on Monday, July 29, 1889, for the purpose of occupying the same as a camp of instruction. Companies A, B, C, D, E, G, and H, were transported by way of the Chicago and Alton railroad, and arrived in camp at 4:00 P. M. of that day. Company F was transported by way of the Illinois Central railroad, and arrived at Camp Lincoln about 11:00 A. M. of that day. Before breaking ranks the colors were hoisted and saluted, and the order assuming command and the order of daily service published.

After publication of orders, Company B, which had been detailed for guard, was marched to its quarters, and then the guard promptly mounted, and from that time the established routine carried out to the fullest, with the exception that on some of the days, owing to the heat, the afternoon skirmish drill was omitted.

An inspection of the camp upon our arrival indicated throughout the quarters generally an excellent condition of police, but in a number of the mess tents and kitchens a great lack of cleanliness was found.

The battalion for the drill of the morning of the 30th was composed of six companies equalized into eight, one company being on guard and one company at the rifle range. This method of formation was followed throughout the encampment, and was found to be an improvement over former years. The depletion of companies by ordinary guard detail made it difficult to ascertain whether all the men of the company were present for duty or not, except by a roll call, which might unnecessarily delay matters. But by having the guard mount as in former years in the evening, composed of a company, and one whole company at the rifle range, left six whole companies for the purpose of battalion drill, which equalized very conveniently into eight companies, and by the assignment of the officers as provided in the tactics, it gave the men experience with other officers besides those with whom they were ordinarily familiar, and gave the officers a like experience with different men. Two hours and a half daily devoted to battalion drill throughout the encampment resulted in great benefit to both officers and men, as the last drills plainly showed. The movements attempted and executed covered nearly the whole range of the school of the battalion, the success of which can in a great measure be attributed to the especial proficiency of Lieut. Col. Ingalls.

The increased restrictions placed upon rifle firing probably prevented an increase of the high standing of the regiment in that important particular of the soldier's training, but it is believed that, generally speaking, the regiment is much improved in this particular over former years, and many thanks are due to Col. Shaffer, Inspector General of Rifle Practice, and Captain Humphrey, Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice, for their patience and devotion to the work of instructing the men of the command.

Under orders heretofore issued from general headquarters, a detail of one man from each company was made, with special reference to his fitness, for instruction in the field hospital service, given by Captain Louis Brechemin, Assistant Surgeon United States Army, stationed at Camp Lincoln for that purpose. His kindness and devotion to the work in hand resulted in great benefit to the men, and it is believed that with the information thus derived from him, distributed throughout the command, cannot but result in increased knowledge upon this important branch of the service. Such a high standard was attained by Private John L. Soule, company B, Fourth infantry, that at the request of Captain Brechemin he was detailed to remain at Camp Lincoln after the departure of the regiment for the purpose of instructing the hospital corps to be organized in the Fifth, Sixth and Eighth regiments to follow us in camp, and up to this date the best reports come of the way he has performed his duties.

The daily school for commissioned and non-commissioned officers resulted in a great deal of good to the command. By this method disputed and partially understood points were fully discussed, and in most cases a satisfactory conclusion arrived at.

The guard, consisting of one company, proved a more satisfactory method of instructing than that usually adopted, but, as in former years, a satisfactory standard was not attained. It seems to be very difficult to properly instruct men in their duties as guards and sentinels when there is so little to guard and where the general idea prevails that the duty is performed more for show than for anything else. Great difficulty has always been experienced in eradicating this idea from the average recruit. An attempt was made to ascertain which company possessed the greatest proficiency in this particular, but, not being fully satisfied, I would now deem it an injustice to make a distinction.

As heretofore, the rations issued by the state were of the most excellent quality, and in quantity fully equal to and even more than that provided by the army regulations. The meat ration, especially, was of superior quality and nothing was detected during any of the daily inspections of mess tents and kitchens, and the rations issued but such as would demand of me the most favorable mention.

As indicated by the report of the regimental surgeon, Major W. L. Smith, a very healthy condition prevailed throughout the entire regiment during the tour of duty. Of the three men excused two were injured. One, Private Bernard True, Company H, Fourth Infantry, received a severe bayonet thrust through his leg while in the performance of his duty while attempting to arrest a soldier who was trying to run past the guard. Private True had stopped the man who was attempting to get through the lines, and called for assistance, responsive to which call another sentinel came, and in the intense darkness then prevailing did not see Private True and, carrying his musket at a trail, struck True in the leg, inflicting a seemingly severe and serious wound. Later reports, however, indicate that the young man is doing well under the care of his father, who is a competent physician at Kankakee. The other injury was a shoulder dislocation while at play.

The sanitary condition of the camp I believe to be as near perfect as can be made, the ground itself being of such character that great aid is given to any effort that may be put forth by the state to perfect the sanitary arrangements.

The established routine having been maintained with scarcely an exception throughout the week, on Sunday, August 4th, at 8 o'clock, the command was formed for inspection by Col. Gaines Lawson, U. S. A. The inspection was preceded by a review by the commanding officer, and after inspection of general appearance, the companies were ordered into their respective streets and a careful inspection of arms, clothing and quarters made by Col. Lawson. All things considered, the inspection developed the best condition in the history of the regiment. The condition of the arms, the clothing, the set-up of the men and the quarters all showed great improvement over former years.

At 3 P. M. of Sunday the regiment was formed, and headed by the band, marched to the beautiful grove in the rear of the camp, where religious services were conducted by the regimental chaplain, the Rev. Conrad Haney. The command took part in the singing and paid close attention to the sermon, which abounded in deep and earnest thought and the services were appreciated not only by the officers and men of the command, but by a large concourse of people from the city of Springfield.

As in former years, the Young Men's Christian Association had within the post a large tent for the convenience of the men, and for holding religious services. 128 men of the regiment registered, 315 letters were written, and with the exception of Sunday, the daily attendance was not less than 100. The establishment of the Camp Lincoln Branch of this great association for good is believed to abound in profit to all. This quiet resort, where harmless games are played, newspapers are read, and quiet and pleasant conversation indulged in by the men of the various companies, coming, as they do, from distant and varying localities, has certainly been very pleasant for all those who sought its benefits and I can but commend its good work.

A high standard of discipline was maintained and good results attained. The responses to roll calls were more complete, and the punishment of delinquents more certain, than heretofore. These improvements were brought about by reason of the more general and hearty coöperation of the company officers. The practice of punishing these men of a high grade of intelligence with confinement in the guard tent has, as a rule, been avoided. But such punishments were imposed as would surely remind the men that they could not with impunity disregard their plain duty.

The great success of this camp can, in a large measure, be attributed to an efficient staff. An effort has been made to place upon each staff officer, whether commissioned or non-commissioned, his full burden of staff duties. The result has been most satisfactory, and only justice is done when both thanks and praise are given to the members of the Fourth Infantry staff, one and all.

Considering the recent tour of active duty performed by the regiment at Braidwood, in May and June last, the large attendance at camp was a source of great gratification. The morning report of August 4th showed there were 29 officers and 393 men present for duty, besides 28 cooks and servants. The aggregate present and absent on that date was 578. One of the commendable features of the regiment this year is the excellent condition of the band and field music. The De Molay Commandery Band, which was regularly enlisted in the state service one year ago, is undoubtedly one of the finest musical organizations outside of the large cities, in the country, and their excellent music, from a military point of view, made them a source of pride and satisfaction to the whole command. The standard of the field music is so far advanced over former years, that they have become of positive value, instead of being, as they are so apt to be during tours of instruction, passive nuisances.

On Wednesday, July 31st, our camp was officially visited by Lt. Col. F. Q. Ball, Judge Advocate, and Lt. Col. F. Ziegfeld, Inspector of Rifle Practice, and Sergt. Moyer, of Gen. FitzSimons' staff. Their impressions and conclusions can be best understood by reference to the report made by them to the brigade commander. However, it is certainly an excellent practice for the brigade commander to be present, either in person or by members of his staff, that encouragement may be given to the regiments, and that he may have a better knowledge of his troops.

On the morning of Monday, August 5th reveille was sounded at 4 A. M., and at 8 A. M. the order relinquishing command was read, and the Fourth Infantry moved out of Camp Lincoln, taking transportation for home via Chicago and Alton Railroad, again breaking the record by being on time.

My thanks are due to the heads of departments serving at the post, to Col. Gaines Lawson, U. S. A., and to Capt. Louis Brechemin, Assistant Surgeon U. S. A., for their kindnesses and valuable assistance.

I append the report of Maj. W. L. Smith, Regimental Surgeon.

Very respectfully submitted.

FRED BENNITT,

Colonel Fourth Infantry, Illinois National Guard.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER EIGHTH INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH REGIMENT INFANTRY,
GREENUP, ILLINOIS, AUGUST 27, 1889.

To the Adjutant General, State of Illinois:

SIR: I have the honor to transmit for your information the following report of a tour of duty of the 8th Reg't. Inf., Ill., National Guard, in obedience to an Order No. 65, "current series Adjutant General's office, dated at Springfield, Ill., April, 20, 1889."

The companies of the 8th Reg't Inf. commenced their journey to Camp Lincoln for the purpose of occupying the same for eight days. They came in over the different roads centering at Springfield and were transported to camp as fast as they arrived. The first company, "D" of Champaign, arriving at 11:45 A. M., and the last one, Co. "G", Metropolitan, at 11:45 P. M. (midnight).

Monday was gone and nothing done. There were no casualties on the road worthy of note with the exception of those at East St. Louis. During the lay-over of nearly five (5) hours at that place, waiting for a train on the C. & A. R. R., two men were made drunk in that place and when the train was ready to move they had to be tied hand and foot and loaded on the train. This delay was unnecessary and should be avoided in the future. The individuality of the citizen soldiery is worth as much to the state as the individual railroad, the preference, if any, should be given to the citizen soldier. I assumed command of the post on Monday morning, but no work was done until Tuesday morning toward the drill and discipline of the regiment. Orders were issued announcing the hours of service and duties for target practice, battalion drill and guard mount. The entire programme for the camp was made to conform to the requirements of the rifle range, General Orders No. 7, April 26, 1889, governing. One officer from each company was detailed for special instruction in rifle practice and who carried a roll of the members of his company; he reporting any delinquents, either on the range or at any stated roll-call. Attending all stated roll-calls being a part of the officer's duty. The results were very satisfactory, and kept the men in camp and confined to their duties. The percentage of men in the camp to the whole number in regiment was large and but few men were excused from the tour of duty.

DRILLS.

From Tuesday to Saturday, five (5) days, ten battalion drills were held lasting from two to two and one-half hours. Particular attention was given to the formations from "line into column," and the "double column of fours," "double column" and the deployments which would be most essential in street riot duty. Skirmish drill was practically used on the range and drilled by the companies on the battalion drill ground before battalion drill in the morning.

CEREMONIES.

Dress parades were held daily, after Monday, there was a marked improvement in them from the first. There were faults of which notice was taken and corrected before the next parade which lead to a continual improvement from the first. Guard mount was held each morning at 7:30 A. M. and was one of the most unknown quantities on earth. It was not well done, there was a lack of a thorough knowledge of all that pertains to this ceremony. The Adjutant and Sergeant-Major acted their part well, for it was studied to go so far and no farther: they quit at the right time and then left the field. That is tactics, but not efficient military knowledge of a whole guard mount in which every officer takes a part to help one another. This could be done by detailing two guards and drill them before their turn of duty, that they may perform this ceremony with some proficiency and promptness worthy of the intelligence of the men who compose the Illinois National Guard.

INSPECTION.

The command was inspected by companies in their respective quarters on company street by Capt. Gaines Lawson, 25th Infantry, U. S. A. The inspection was made early in the morning, the colors and color guard were inspected, but the field and staff were not. The arms and clothing were in fair condition throughout the Regiment, but two companies were not in as fair condition as they should have been under the circumstances. Co's. "C" and "G."

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of the command was fair, it is almost impossible to establish a rule of conduct by which we can gauge the discipline of a militia regiment. The men as a rule saluted commissioned officers, kept their blouses buttoned when outside of quarters, and attended to their duties, while on duty, as well as their knowledge of them would permit. Raw recruits are not made veterans in five days, although in some cases it did seem as though they had. No serious results flowed from the infraction of orders and the guard house was not overburdened at any time with occupants.

Schools for officers and non-commissioned officers were held daily, and they were productive of much better drills and discipline in the camp. The officers were exercised in the manual of the sword and the salutes with the hand.

The duties of "Guards and Sentinels" had been studied at home, in the armories, but when the men were placed on post they did not seem to understand their duties. They could or did not see the difference between a special and a general duty they had to perform. The general duties were not fully understood because they had not been taught them by their officers, that is, in a practical way.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Eight companies of the regiment were at the butts each day, and were constantly employed in the practice on the different ranges, including skirmish firing. The duties commenced at 6:30 A. M. and continued as long as the range could be used in the evening. The results of this work will be forwarded in a short time. Capt. C. F. Hobart, I. R. P. of the regiment, deserves praise for his work and energy displayed in the handling of the men on the range, he has devoted his undivided attention to the work, and it has borne good results.

On Monday morning, August 19, 1889, I relinquished command of Camp Lincoln, the last of the companies having departed before 9:00 A. M. The results of the camp in many particulars has been highly satisfactory, and I attribute the success of many things connected with the camp and the discipline of the regiment, to the efficient manner in which Col. Shaffer has conducted the rifle range, and the encouragement of the building of ranges at the homes where the men of the companies reside, will do more to maintain the perfect organization of the Illinois National Guard than any one thing that could be done and the interest in the Guard maintained the coming year to tide over the failure of an encampment. The thorough inspection and drill of the Guard in the spring will add much to its discipline and efficiency.

—5 A. G.

In closing I wish to thank the officers and men in charge of the camp, for many favors and valuable suggestions. The rations were good and plenty of them. The camp ground is in fine condition, but the water supply not in proportion to the good condition of the general camp. I enclose report from Maj. A. G. Meserve, Surgeon 8th Regiment Infantry.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

RELLY M. SMITH,

Colonel Eighth Regiment, Commanding.

Strength of the Illinois National Guard, October 10, 1890.

General Orders No. 6 :

All private military organizations in this State are authorized to parade with arms on the 30th day of April, 1889, at the centennial ceremonies of the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of the United States.

By order of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, April 26, 1889.

General Orders No. 7.

By request of the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, the following is published for the information of all concerned :

Officers and soldiers who have twice won the Sharpshooter's decoration, will thereafter be ineligible to practice under the rules which governed rifle firing in 1888: but will be required to practice in a class which is hereby created and designated, "Distinguished Sharpshooters."

In the Distinguished Sharpshooter's class, the following rules will govern :

(1.) The practice must be under the supervision of a commissioned officer, and if an Inspector of Rifle Practice is present, he will have supervision.

(2.) No sighting shots permitted at 200 or 300 yards.

(3.) Two sighting shots will be permitted at each distance of 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards.

(4.) No officer or soldier will be permitted to retire from an incomplete score and commence a new one.

(5.) No scorer will sign a score sheet unless he personally recognized the signal for each shot, and shall watch the target with the aid of a glass to avoid the possibility of an error.

(6.) Every competitor for the class of Distinguished Sharpshooters will provide himself with a score book, in which he will keep the following record of each shot, viz :

Location of hit.

Direction and force of wind.

Elevation.

Wind gauge.

Date and name.

(7.) The following scores will be required for the Distinguished Sharpshooter's decoration, viz.:

ON THE A TARGET.

23 out of a possible 25, at 200 yards. Position: Standing.

23 out of a possible 25, at 300 yards. Position: Kneeling or sitting.

ON THE B TARGET.

24 out of a possible 25, at 500 yards.

23 out of a possible 25, at 600 yards.

48 out of a possible 50, at skirmish.

Position: Any within the rules.

ON THE C TARGET.

24 out of a possible 25, at 800 yards.

23 out of a possible 25, at 900 yards.

22 out of a possible 25, at 1,000 yards.

Position: Any within the rules.

The following will apply to rifle practice in general:

Officers will arrange their details for rifle firing, so that there will be no misunderstandings between the men who wish to practice at different distances, when they arrive upon the grounds. Should it occur that competitors for the class of Distinguished Sharpshooters, and competitors for lower grades, who may desire to practice from different firing points, meet upon the range at the same time, and the conditions favoring each class of competitors being about the same, then the competitors for the highest grade must give way for those of the lower.

Any question of conflicting claims under this rule, shall be decided by the officer in charge.

Officers and men who visit the range for the purpose of qualifying in any class, must appear in uniform, and will be subject to the orders of the officer in command of the range.

The Leland Medal and the Klaholt Prize were not awarded in 1888 because several full scores were made at 200 and 500 yards by competitors in different regiments during the tour of duty at Camp Lincoln. With the consent of the donors, these prizes will be permanently awarded at the end of the camp season of 1889, upon the following conditions:

The Leland Medal will be awarded to the best aggregate score out of a possible 175 at the several ranges of 100, 200, 300, 400, 500 yards and skirmish firing; and the Klaholt Prize will be awarded to the next best aggregate score.

The scores made by Field and Staff officers will not be considered when awarding these prizes.

Officers and men competing for those prizes will not practice over the range after arrival in camp, before making their scores.

During the tour of camp duty at the State Camp in 1889, but one score of five shots will be allowed at each distance, and one skirmish run of ten shots, (no sighting shots allowed). For this reason every officer and soldier should see that his rifle is perfectly sighted, and that he understands the elevations and wind gauge before going to camp.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

JOSEPH W. VANCE, Adjutant General.

General Orders No. 9.

1. General Orders No. 19, C. S., Adjutant General's office, Washington, D. C., Feb. 20, 1889, prescribes the following new regulation for the government of the U. S. Army:

"Between reveille and retreat sentinels will salute all officers by presenting arms."

2. This regulation is adopted for the Illinois National Guard, and will be strictly observed from this date.

The circular, "General Instructions for Sentinels," issued from this office February 2, 1889, is hereby amended by striking out, in the fifteenth line, on page 1, the words "according to rank; salute," so that the amended sentence will read, "salute all officers, National and regimental colors with present arms," and by striking out the first three lines and the first four words of the fourth line, under the heading "Remarks."

In order that no mistakes may arise hereafter, every officer will at once draw an ink line through the words ordered stricken out.

General Orders No. 12.

The following orders and general instructions are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

Camp Lincoln is constituted a military post, and will be governed and conducted as such by the commanding officers during their tour of camp duty.

Post commanders will announce in orders the service calls, for the information and guidance of troops.

Rations will be issued to Regimental Quartermasters on consolidated ration returns, approved by the post commander.

Horses for Field Officers and batteries will be furnished by the Quartermaster General, and no transportation or forage will be allowed for any other horses.

The Adjutant General will supply all needed blanks upon the arrival of the commands in camp.

Two cooks will be allowed to each Non-Commissioned Staff and Band, company and battery, and two cooks and two servants to each regimental headquarters. These employés to be paid on rolls, and the same amounts as the troops.

Regimental Commanders will direct their Quartermasters, or authorize Company Commanders, to furnish the necessary rations for the troops en route to Camp Lincoln, at a cost not to exceed twenty cents a man. In no case shall vouchers exceed the actual expenditures, as this is not an allowance, but an authorized expenditure to cover a necessity. If no necessity exists, no expenditure will be made.

Pay-rolls, in triplicate, will be prepared, showing the name of every officer, enlisted man and employé present for duty, number of days served, amount of pay due, properly signed and certified to; and will be handed to the Post Commander on the last day in camp, and by him transmitted to the Adjutant General.

Pay will be allowed to officers, enlisted men and authorized employés for the days on which the command arrives at and departs from camp, and for such other days during the tour of duty on which they are present and performing duty, or properly accounted for.

No other than legally enlisted men and authorized employés will be transported, subsisted or paid. Substitutes are not allowed.

All officers and enlisted men are cautioned against marking, defacing, or in any other manner injuring public property, hitching horses to trees or fences, and are directed to arrest and take before the Post Commander any person found violating this order.

Post Commanders will be held responsible for the care and protection of public property and grounds, and are specially charged to furnish sufficient guards to prevent loose stock from entering the grounds, to prevent the pollution of water at hydrants, to establish regulations for bathing, and provide a guard to protect the enlisted men in the exclusive use of bathing pool; to see that the general grounds, as well as the camp proper, are thoroughly policed. Tents, kitchens, grounds and the space between and back of tents should at all times be perfectly clean.

□ Heads of departments, serving on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, are authorized to exercise a general supervision in their respective departments.

General inspection will be conducted on Sunday morning for the purpose of allowing the officer of the regular army on duty to inspect, and in order that his report to the Adjutant General, U. S. Army, may be based on practical and actual observations.

Post Commanders will cause the camp to be thoroughly policed before turning it over to the regiment succeeding them.

Within ten days after the end of the tour of duty each Post Commander will make a detailed report to the Adjutant General, showing how orders were observed, general management of the post, and results obtained.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

J. W. VANCE,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 4, 1889.

General Orders No 15.

The property return required from officers responsible for public property on Sept. 30, 1889, will be made in duplicate early enough so that one copy may be mailed to the Adjutant General on the above named date. The duplicate copy will be filled with the retained records, and will be submitted to the inspector on his next tour of inspection. Every article of public property issued, invoiced or found, must be taken up on the return and one copy of each invoice made must be attached thereto.

Whenever property has been dropped, transferred or turned into the arsenal under orders, a copy of the order directing the action must be attached to the return.

Articles expended, such as paper targets, pasters, stationery, buttons in the repair of uniforms, etc., must be carried on the return and then dropped under appropriate headings. In all cases where property has been lost, destroyed or stolen, a board of survey must be applied for, in order that the responsibility for such loss may be placed, and whenever any article of public property has become unserviceable (from any cause whatever) the action of an inspector thereon shall be applied for.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

J. W. VANCE.

Adjutant General.

 SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 27, 1890.

Court Martial Orders No. 1.

Before a Court Martial which convened at Chicago, Illinois, pursuant to Special Orders No. 190, November 21, 1889, Adjutant General's office, and of which Major George V. Lauman, 1st Infantry, I. N. G., is president, was arraigned and tried—

Private Edward B. Filkin, Company G, 1st Infantry, I. N. G.

Charge 1.—“Disobedience of Orders.”

Specification 1.—(Failed to report for duty to attend the annual tour of camp duty, July 13, 1889, after orders had been sent him to do so.)

Specification 2.—(Absented himself from his company, July 15, 1889, in violation of orders.)

Specification 3.—(Did fail to report at the regimental Armory after having been ordered to do so.)

Charge 2.—“Absence without leave, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.”

Specification 1.—(Failed to appear at Company roll call, July 13, 1889, after having been ordered to be present.)

Specification 2.—(Absented himself from the annual tour of camp duty July 13, to July 20, 1889, without leave.)

PLEA.

To the Charges and Specifications.—“Guilty.”

FINDING.

Of the Charges and Specifications.—“Guilty.”

SENTENCE.

And the Court does therefore sentence him, said Private Edward B. Filkins, Company G, 1st Infantry, I. N. G., “To be dishonorably discharged from the Illinois National Guard.”

(2.) The proceedings, findings and sentence in the foregoing case is of Private Edward B. Filkins, Company G, 1st Infantry, I. N. G., are approved.

In view of a general petition recommending the accused to the clemency of the reviewing authority, the punishment involved in the sentence is remitted. Private Filkins will report to his company commander for duty.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

JOSEPH W. VANCE,
Adjutant-General.

Permission to leave the State, fully equipped in the month of June, 1890, for the purpose of attending a competitive drill at Kansas City, Mo., has been granted a detachment of Battery A, (Danville).

Company B, 6th Infantry, (Mendota) was disbanded April 5th, 1890.

Permission to drill and parade with arms, but without ammunition, till December 31, 1890, has been granted the "Winnetka Cadet Corps," Winnetka, Ill.

Leave of absence for ten (10) days from April 10th, 1890, with permission to leave the State, has been granted Captain J. B. Sanborn, Company G, 1st Infantry.

2. In accepting the resignation of Col. James A. Shaffer, as General Inspector of Rifle Practice, the Commander-in-Chief recognized the valuable and efficient services of Colonel Shaffer in the following words:

"Colonel Shaffer was appointed Division Inspector of Rifle Practice, by Major General Arthur C. Ducat, Illinois National Guard, early in the year 1878, and was promoted General Inspector of Rifle Practice, I. N. G., March 17th, 1878, which position he has held up to this time.

"Colonel Shaffer served as 1st Sergeant, Company K, 15th Illinois Volunteer Infantry, from May 24th, 1861, till May 30, 1865. From September, 22, 1864, till April 1, 1865, he was a prisoner at Andersonville, and there suffered and endured what no one can ever adequately describe.

"In accepting Colonel Shaffer's resignation, the Commander-in-Chief desires to officially express his recognition of the distinguished ability and expert knowledge with which the duties of his office were always discharged. The General Staff loses a valued member and co-worker, the Guard a most thorough and efficient instructor."

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, July 3, 1890.

Circular No. 1.

The following rules and regulations prescribed for the government of the Inter-State competitive matches at Camp Douglas, Wisconsin, in September next, are hereby published for the information of the Illinois National Guard.

All preliminary practice of regimental, brigade and State teams, should be governed strictly by the rules here laid down.

* * * EXTRACTS. * *

IX. Weather permitting, the following will be the programme of practice and competition:

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER —

Will be devoted to the work of establishing the camp, receiving competitors, inspection of range and the general work of preparation.

PRELIMINARY PRACTICE.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER —

Forenoon—Known distances. Each competitor will be allowed to fire five (5) shots at each of the ranges 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards.

Afternoon—Skirmish firing. Each competitor will be allowed one skirmish run of 20 shots, firing to be conducted under the same regulations that obtain in the regular competition.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER —

Forenoon—Known distance practice. Same as on Tuesday.

Afternoon—Skirmish practice. Same as on Tuesday.

REGULAR COMPETITION.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER —

Forenoon—Known distance firing. Each competitor to fire five shots at each of the ranges 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards.

Afternoon—Skirmish firing. Each competitor to make one run of 20 shots, 600 to 200 yards and back, 10 halts, 5 advancing and 5 retiring; 30 seconds firing intervals at each halt, two shots to be fired by each competitor at each halt.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER —

Forenoon—Known distance firing, same as on Thursday.

Afternoon—Skirmish firing, same as on Thursday. As soon as possible after the close of the firing the successful team will be announced, and the work of the regular competition closed.

X. When the firing is to take place "assembly" will be sounded at 8:30 A. M. and 2:30 P. M.

The foregoing programme will be subject to such changes both as to hours of firing and otherwise, as in the judgment of the officer in charge, may be deemed advisable.

XI. The detail of commissioned officers for the competition will be as follows:

One officer in charge, one camp commander, one adjutant, one quartermaster, who will also act as commissary of subsistence, and one medical officer. With the exception of the officer in charge, the above detail will be made from the National Guard of the State where the competition is held. One chief statistical officer, one assistant statistical officer, who shall also act as ordnance officer, 12 range officers, one of whom shall be designated by the executive committee or the officer in charge, as executive range officer.

It is particularly desired that each State entering a team for competition, furnish its pro rata share of officers for range and statistical duty.

XII. The detail of non-commissioned officers and enlisted men for this competition will be as follows:

One acting sergeant major, who shall perform the necessary clerical work in the office of the adjutant, and be detailed on the request of the camp commander; one A. Q. M. sergeant, who shall render all possible assistance to the quartermaster and commissary officer of the camp and be detailed at his request; two statistical clerks, one of whom shall act as ordnance sergeant in case of need; 2 sergeants for telephone, all to be detailed at the request of the officer in charge; 18 markers and 6 scorers, who shall respectively perform all necessary work in the pit and on the range, and 2 musicians.

Each state is requested to provide for the detail of at least 2 markers and one scorer. In case the officer in charge of any State detail is so instructed, alternates on State teams when not required for competitive firing, may be designated for these duties.

XIII. The officers and enlisted men above noted will have the authority and perform the duties above prescribed, together with those laid down for officers and men detailed and assigned to similar positions in army competitions.

XIV. The following special regulations will govern in all firing held under the auspices of this Association:

(1). The following positions only, will be permitted in preliminary and competitive firing:

At 200 yards, the standing position.

At 300 yards, either kneeling or sitting.

At 500 yards, lying down, prone position.

At 600 yards, lying down, any position void of artificial rest.

Any variety of these positions authorized by the regulations for competitive firing will be permitted.

(2) The service rifle and original service cartridges only will be used in competition.

(3) For the skirmish firing the distances will be between 600 and 200 yards, and any position for firing will be permitted; the firing will be at the group targets D, E and F, described in Par. 329, Small Arms Firing Regulations.

The competitors, one assigned to each group, will form in line in rear of the 600 yard firing point, with 20 cartridges in their belts, no additional cartridges being carried upon the person, and at the signal "Skirmishers, Attention," will come to attention, at the command or signal "Forward, March," the line will advance first at quick, and then at the proper command or signal, at double time, until the command or signal "Skirmishers, Halt," which will be immediately followed by the command or signal "Commence firing," when the sights will be adjusted to the estimated distance, the rifle or carbine loaded, and the position for firing assumed. After the last note of the signal "Commence, Firing," firing will be commenced and be continued for an interval of 30 seconds, no competitor to fire to exceed 2 shots at any halt. At the expiration of the thirty seconds interval the last note of the signal "Cease, Firing," will be sounded.

After each halt for firing, the line will advance in the same manner as before the first fire, at quick and then at double time, until the succeeding halt is ordered.

Having approached sufficiently near the 200 yard firing point, the signal "To the Rear, March," will be given, when the manœuvering to the rear and firing will continue as upon the advance. The rifles will be carried on either shoulder when manœuvering to the rear, muzzles always TOWARD the targets.

Five halts will be made advancing, and five retiring.

For the competitive skirmish firing, each hit will be scored 3, 4 and 5 respectively, and five points will be deducted from a competitor's score for each failure to fire at least two shots at each halt, for each shot fired before the last note of the signal "Commence Firing," or after the last note of the signal "Cease Firing," has been sounded.

Every cartridge lost after the advance is commenced, and every miss fire, will be considered a miss, a cartridge which fails to explode may, in the discretion of the soldier, be replaced by another at that halt, but at the expense of the cartridges reserved for other halts, at some of which but one shot can be fired.

If a rifle becomes disabled, the competitor will at once submit the piece for the inspection of the nearest range officer. He will not wait until the run is over before submitting the piece for such inspection.

The range officer will at once determine whether or not the competitor is to have a new run, or whether he must continue that run with the same piece, under the conditions prescribed by the firing regulations, U. S. A., and decisions thereon by competent authority.

All protests relative to rulings of range officers must be made during the run, or before the succeeding run has been commenced.

(4) During the progress of a match or competition, no one except the officers on duty at the range, the competitors and scorekeepers, will be permitted within the ropes without special permission of the officers in charge.

(5) During the progress of matches and competitions, no one except the officers on duty, the markers, and such representatives of each State team as may be deemed essential to insure fairness, will be permitted in the target pit, without the special permission of the officer in charge.

(6) The squads of competitors will be stationed at least 5 yards in rear of the firing point, where each competitor must remain until called by the scorekeeper to take his position at the firing point, and until he has completed his score.

(7) No expressions on the part of competitors of approbation or disappointment, with reference to any scores made by themselves or others, must be uttered loud enough to be heard at the firing points.

(8) Protests and objections must not be directly submitted to the officers in charge, but to one of the range officers. In case a competitor considers the decision of the latter unwarranted by the facts as presented, he may appeal to the officer in charge. Final appeals from decisions of the officer in charge must be made in writing and forwarded through that officer to the Executive Committee of the Association.

(9) These regulations, and such special rules or directions as the officer in charge may give, must be rigidly complied with by competitors and all other persons upon the range grounds.

(10) All shots fired by the soldier after he has taken his place at the firing point, and it is his turn to fire—the target being ready—will be considered in his score, even if his piece is not directed toward the target or is accidentally discharged.

(11) Shots fired upon the wrong target will be entered upon the score of the man firing as a miss, no matter what the value of the hit upon the wrong target.

(12) If two shots strike a target at the same, or nearly the same time, both will be signaled, and if a shot was just fired from the firing point assigned to that target, the hit having the highest of the two values signaled will be entered in the soldier's score, and no record made of the other hit. A similar rule will be applied when scoring hits in competitive skirmish firing.

(13) Marking and scoring will be conducted substantially in the manner prescribed in Par. 484 to 500, Small Arms Firing Regulations, except that no marker or scorer will act as such for his own State team, when the same can possibly be avoided.

(14) Before any miss is signaled the target must be turned down from the firing position and carefully examined by a range officer. Whenever the target is reversed and a miss signaled, it will be presumed this examination has been thoroughly made, and no challenge of the value signaled for the shot will be entertained; but on request a re-examination may be made.

(15) The score-keepers will be seated close to and in rear of the firing point stakes, and will, as each shot is signaled, announce in an audible tone, the name of the competitor and the value of the shot, and, at the conclusion of the score of each competitor, repeat his name and total score.

(16) Competitors must pay attention to the score as announced and recorded, so that any error may be promptly investigated.

(17) The recorded value of any shot will not be changed after the following shot has been fired, unless some special message with reference to it is received from one of the range officers in the target pit.

(18) Any alteration of the scoring card must be witnessed by the officer in charge of the firing point and indorsed with his initials.

(19) The aiming notch or the aperture of the rear sight slide may be slightly widened or opened to accommodate individual peculiarities of eyesight, but no other alteration or filing of the regular service sights, or the use of detachable spirit levels, or of temporary shades for the sights will be permitted. The front or rear sights may however be whitened, blackened or colored, according to the judgment of the soldier. The use in aiming of orthoptic eye pieces will not be allowed.

(20) The trigger pull must always be at least six (6) pounds, and will be tested by each competitor, under the supervision of a range officer or scorer, before firing each day and at each range.

(21) Competitors will submit their rifles for further inspection whenever required.

(22) Competitors will wear the prescribed fatigue uniform with the service belt issued by their State. The use of a hat or cap other than the forage cap may be permitted in the discretion of the officer in charge.

(23) In competitions or matches embracing more than one distance, the firing will commence at the shortest distance, and be followed in order by each of the longer distances, the firing at the longest range being held last. Sheds or shelters for the soldier will not be permitted at any range. Competitors must be present at the firing points punctually at the time or in the order stated on their score cards; no application on the part of competitor for any alteration in his assignment will be entertained.

(24) In all practice and competitions the competitors will place themselves at the firing point by twos, and will fire alternately, the odd number of each pair being on the right and firing first.

(25) If just as a shot is fired the target is withdrawn from the firing position, (the match not being at moving targets), the scorer at that firing point will at once report the fact to one of the range officers, who, if upon investigation, is satisfied that the case is as represented, will direct that the shot fired be not considered, and that the soldier fire another shot.

(26) Competitors will not be hurried in their firing, but such slight delay permitted after each shot as they may desire; provided the time of firing the score does not exceed an average of one minute per shot.

(27) If an accident to a target, or any other cause over which the soldier has no control, prevents him from completing his score within a reasonable interval, he will be permitted such additional time as a range officer may decide.

(28) No two competitors shall shoot in any match or competition with the same rifle; nor shall a competitor change his rifle during any competition, unless his first rifle has become unserviceable through an accident, which must be verified by a range officer. Willful, but not unintentional violation of this regulation, will warrant the officer in charge, in his discretion, excluding the soldier from further competition.

(29) No sighting shots, or any warning or fouling shots will be allowed in any match or competition.

(30) Rifles can only be cleaned upon the completion of a score. In competitions at more than one distance, cleaning will be permitted between distances. While, with these restrictions, cleaning will be permitted, it will not be required.

(31) Except in team matches, no coaching or unnecessary communication of any kind with those actually firing will be permitted.

(32) In team matches, the presence at the firing point will be permitted of one team captain and one coach or spotter for each team, who may give to the members of their teams such directions or advice as they may think proper.

(33) Any competitor who shall be detected in any evasion of the conditions prescribed for any match or competition shall be excluded from further participation in the firing at that meeting.

(34) Any competitor.

(a) Who shall fire in a name other than his own, or who shall fire twice for the same prize, unless permitted by the conditions of the competition to do so: or

(b) Who shall be guilty of falsifying his score, or being accessory thereto: or

(c) Who shall offer a bribe of any kind to a scorer or marker, shall, upon the occurrence being proved to the satisfaction of the range officers and the officer in charge, be reported in writing to the Executive Committee of the Association, who will then direct that the competitor be forever disqualified from taking part in future competitions held by this Association.

(35) Any competitor refusing to obey the instructions or the officer in charge or his assistants, or violating any of these regulations, or being guilty of unruly or disorderly conduct, or being intoxicated, will be immediately debarred from further competition at that meeting. The officer in charge will also report the facts in the case to the Executive Committee of the Association, who will take such further action as they may deem proper.

(36) All ties will be decided and disposed of in the manner prescribed in Par. 651 and 652, Small Arms Firing Regulations.

(37) Any person, whether a competitor or not, interfering with any of the firing squads, or annoying them in any way, will be warned to desist, and if he repeats the offence, will at once be ordered off the range grounds.

(38) Competitors and all others connected with the meetings of military riflemen, must make themselves acquainted with the foregoing regulations, as well as with the conditions of any match or competitive firing in which they may be participants, as the plea of ignorance of either of them will not be entertained.

(39) All matters pertaining to Camp, Transportation and Subsistence, will be under the direction and immediate charge of the Camp Commander, and all matters pertaining to the range under the direction of the Officer in Charge, or Executive Range Officer.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

J. W. VANCE, Adjutant General.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
 ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
 SPRINGFIELD, August 12, 1890.

Circular No. 3.

This circular, by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, is published for the information of officers and enlisted men, practicing for the Distinguished Sharpshooter's cross, and of officers in charge of firing parties practicing for it, and is not intended for those who are practicing for the Sharpshooters' or any lower class.

Attention is called to Sec. 99 of the regulations for the Illinois National Guard, which is as follows: "For qualification in this class, all the provisions of Blunt's Firing Regulations for qualification in the Sharpshooters' class subsequent to the second season's practice will be followed." It is impracticable to attempt to give a summary of Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations. As those qualifying in this class are expected to qualify themselves to compete with riflemen from other States, and from the Army, it is necessary that they should follow the regulations which are used by such other organizations, and no construction put upon these Regulations by the officers of this State, would be binding upon other States. For this reason any attempted abridgement might be misleading, and has not been attempted, and this circular is not intended to add to, or take from any of the requirements of Blunt, but only to explain them and draw attention to some points that seem to have been, in some cases, overlooked.

SEC. 2. Officers and scorers certifying to the correctness of score sheets and reports for persons practicing for qualification in this class, will be understood to certify that the practice has been conducted according to Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations, 3d edition. Former editions of Blunt's Rifle Firing will not answer the purpose, as the rules have been considerably modified in the 3d edition.

SEC. 3. Special attention is called to Sec. 216 of Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations. This is understood to require that when the competitor has had such preliminary and discretionary additional practice at any particular range as he intends to take, he may commence his record practice at that range. He must announce before commencing his record practice that he does so commence, and he will then be permitted no other firing at that distance, until his record as a Distinguished Sharpshooter at that distance is completed, and he will not be allowed to retire from this record or any part of it, and make another during that year for the purpose of qualifying as a Distinguished Sharpshooter. Sec. 208 provides that this record practice can not be commenced at any particular range on any day on which the soldier has already practiced at that particular distance.

SEC. 4. Any soldier who has begun a score (five shots) of his record practice for Distinguished Sharpshooter's class, will complete that score at that time unless interrupted by some cause beyond the control of the commanding officer, as specified in Sec. 186, Blunt 3d Edition. When so interrupted it will be completed at the soldier's next practice. (See Sec. 186.)

SEC. 5. A soldier competing for the cross, having completed one or more scores at any particular range, may postpone making the other scores at that distance to a later time in the day, or to another day for rest or other purposes. When the record practice for the cross has been broken off in the midst of a score for sufficient cause, as provided in the Manual, or when the practice is discontinued at the end of a score and resumed at a later period in the day, after lapse of time, as provided in Sec. 183, or at a future day, sighting shots will be allowed the same as when the firing was first commenced at that distance, notwithstanding practice may have been had at other ranges on the same day, and sighting shots taken at other ranges; but no sighting shots will be allowed between scores fired consecutively at the same range. (See Sec. 183.)

SEC. 6. There is a certain advantage in taking the preliminary practice at all ranges before commencing the record practice at any range, as the practice at one range will steady the soldier's muscle and aim at all ranges. On the other hand, when sufficient practice has been had to enable the soldier to shoot with reasonable chance of success at any distance, it may be well to complete his record practice at that distance whenever he may feel in good condition, and the weather may be most favorable. Otherwise, if the record shooting should be left till near the close of the season, it might be impossible to find a time when the weather was particularly auspicious, and the soldier himself in good condition and able to take the time. By postponing too much of the record shooting to the latter part of the season, the soldier may be compelled to do it to a disadvantage; especially in the National Guard, where he does not have so complete control of his time as in the army.

SEC. 7. If a soldier having qualified as a sharpshooter in a previous season, and practicing during the current season for a distinguished sharpshooter's cross, fails to obtain the cross, will still be classed as a sharpshooter if he makes 208 points. By reason of the increased number of scores he will fire in the practice, he will certainly be able to increase his aggregate above that of those who are qualifying the same season as sharpshooters, and therefore when the rifle practice rolls are made up as they will be, with the names of those who have the highest aggregate scores placed first in the order of their scores, those who have competed for the distinguished sharpshooter's cross will follow immediately after the names of the distinguished sharpshooters, and will be above the names of the sharpshooters qualifying for the season, if their scores are higher, as they ought to be. If they are not as high as 208, the soldier will lose his classification, and will begin his rifle practice in a succeeding year as a recruit. No farther honors or badges will be conferred until the soldier qualifies as a distinguished sharpshooter.

The following decision of the Major General commanding the Army, of the 6th instant, in reference to the interpretation of Pars. 326, 327, 336 and 395 (2d clause), Small Arms Firing Regulations, which is as follows:

At the first "Halt" on the advance, the adjustment of the sights and the loading of the rifle or carbine will begin immediately after the first note of the signal "Commence Firing."

Rifles or carbines which are loaded at the sounding of the last note of the signal "Cease Firing," at this and all subsequent halts, will remain loaded, but no piece shall be reloaded at this or any subsequent halt after the sounding of this note. Nor shall any piece be reloaded or the sight adjusted during the actual run from one halt to another.

At the second and all subsequent halts the sights will be adjusted and the rifles or carbines loaded (if then unloaded), immediately after the signal "Halt;" but, as is prescribed for the first halt, the signal "Commence Firing" will in all cases, immediately follow the signal "Halt."

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

Adjutant General.

Adjutant General.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.
SPRINGFIELD, October 25, 1889.

General Orders No. 13.

The following orders are, at the request of the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, published for the information and guidance of the Illinois National Guard:

1. Commanding officers are held responsible for the instruction of the members of their respective commands in the most practical and effective use of the rifle under all the varied circumstances likely to arise in actual service. This is the only object of rifle practice. Knowledge thus acquired must be reduced to a habit by practice. Subject to the rules, regulations and orders of superior officers, commanders will use the widest discretion in the selection of such means as are approved by their best judgment in attaining this end.

2. The earnest and active individual effort of every officer and soldier is necessary in order to obtain the desired degree of excellence, and each should, without waiting for further orders, at once proceed, using his best judgment as to methods, with all the assistance he can get from books, from his superior officers or otherwise to make all the progress he can in the art and science of rifle shooting, and to make the best scores possible; in no case, however, disregarding or disobeying such orders, rules and regulations, as are or may be issued.

3. "Blunt's Firing Regulations for Small Arms," third edition, embodies the result of the ripe experience and scientific thought of the best instructors of the present day, and should be carefully studied by the officers and enlisted men of the Illinois National Guard, and the valuable information it contains should be thoughtfully applied.

4. Commanding officers will instruct the troops, and be held responsible for the preservation of strict order and discipline. When they are unable to be present they will designate some officer or non-commissioned officer, who shall, in addition to the scorers, certify to the score sheets and be held strictly responsible for the firing done; but practice for the distinguished Sharpshooter's cross can only be done under the direct supervision of a commissioned officer.

5. Commanders will publish such necessary rules and regulations governing the firing on the ranges which they control, as may seem to them necessary to secure the safety of the soldiers themselves, as well as of citizens and property, and furnish a copy of such rules to the officer or non-commissioned officer in charge of firing parties, and charge him that he will be held strictly responsible for their observance, as well as for the observance of all other rules and precautions necessary to secure safety. He will strictly charge him that human life may depend upon the care and intelligence with which the rifle range is used. No one should ever be allowed to fire on a National Guard rifle range except from the firing points established, or from lines established for the advance and retreat of skirmishers.

6. No recruit who has not been thoroughly instructed in the aiming and sighting drill should ever be allowed to fire on a rifle range. Officers in charge of a firing party should always ascertain whether the soldier about to fire has been so instructed. If he has not, he should carefully instruct him, and be sure that he thoroughly understands the use of the sights and the elevation before the recruit should ever be allowed to put a cartridge in his rifle. He should also give him some practice in snapping his piece while aiming, to ascertain that he does not in so doing, pull the line of sight off the target. The instructor will continue to give his undivided attention to a recruit until he is fully confident that he understands these subjects, as a slight mistake in aiming or adjustment of the sights may cause the ball to miss the butts entirely, and so endanger life. The best rifle range may be dangerous if ignorantly, carelessly or improperly used.

7. It is recommended that men be allowed to go to the range in small squads whenever they can spare the time, under charge of some officer or non-commissioned officer, who will be responsible that the range is properly used and no accidents incurred, and all shooting properly reported.

8. It has been observed that those companies have the best average score, as a rule, where officers have themselves made good personal records. It is therefore important that officers should themselves make good records and qualify themselves to teach rifle shooting.

9. The interest in rifle practice reports, classifications and badges depends upon their being honestly made and won, and the evidence of these facts should always be accessible. Commanders will carefully preserve all original score sheets, file them away fastened together in the order of their date, the oldest first, those of the same date, the shortest distances first, and those at known distances before those for skirmish firing. No report of firing will be made except such as is based on score sheets thus placed on file and ready at any time to be produced. These score sheets will be preserved at least two years for reference.

10. In making up the company reports at the end of the year, the names of all the officers and soldiers in the company on October 31st, whether they have practiced or been present with the company, or not, must be entered on the blanks furnished by the State, those making the highest score first, and the rest successively in the order of their merit.

Add together all the points made by those practicing for the Distinguished Sharpshooter's class in his 20 shots at each particular distance, and enter them as one score at that distance.

It is expected that those practicing for the Distinguished Sharpshooter's class will make much higher aggregates than those practicing for the Sharpshooter's class. This will not win for them any new badge or decoration unless they make 500 points but the larger scores they make the nearer they will place themselves to the head of the list, which is an honorable position, and the larger number of points they may make the more they will add to their company's aggregate and consequently to the company average, as well as to the aggregate and average of their regiment and of the National Guard of Illinois.

The company commander will add together the total record scores of all the members of the company, and divide it by the total number of officers and enlisted men, whether present with the company or not, and the result will show the average of the company. The reports of rifle practice when consolidated in this manner will show the aggregate numbers in the Illinois National Guard. Company commanders will forward their reports not later than November 5th each year. If no one in the company has practiced, the commander will enter the names of all the members of the company on the blank in the place for names, the same as in other cases, and send it forward so that regimental reports may be promptly made up, first, however, entering the highest class made in former years in the column designated for that purpose.

11. "It is a fact worth noting that the best shots are with few exceptions the best soldiers. The discipline through which one's mind and body must pass to become a sharpshooter, prepares the soldier for active service as can nothing else." (Shaffer.)

The average score of an organization indicates with a great degree of exactness its actual military efficiency and the success of its officers as military commanders.

12. As soon as the classification of organizations can be ascertained, there will be special mention in orders of the best and second best regiments in rifle firing in each brigade, and for the first, second and third best companies in each regiment.

13. The Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice will add up on his report the total scores of all the companies, and divide it by the aggregate of the regiment. This report he will immediately mail to the Brigade Inspector of Rifle Practice. All the company reports, after being first approved, and also the report of the firing of the field, staff and non-commissioned staff, will be forwarded with this report, not later than November 12th, each year.

14. Brigade Inspectors of Rifle Practice will make up a report similar to a Company report, of the firing of the General and staff, and will consolidate it and the Regimental reports in like manner, and mail this Brigade consolidated report at once direct to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice. He will forward with this report the report of the firing of the General and staff, and also all Regimental and Company reports after they have been approved, not later than the 20th day of November in each year. All officers, Brigade, Regimental and Company, should keep copies of their reports, and are privileged to take all information desired from, or to take copies of reports going through their office, but must not delay reports for this purpose. Copies can be obtained later if necessary.

15. In marking, the smallest circle is called the bulls-eye, and when touched by a shot counts five, and is signalled with the white disc. The next circle is called center, and counts four; signalled with red disc. The next, called the inner, counts three, signalled with black and white disc. The rest of the target, called the outer, counts two, signalled with black disc. Ricochet shots count nothing and are signalled by waving the disc in front of the target. Markers should always be careful to place the exact centre of the disc over the spot struck by the ball.

16. Any objection to the scoring of a shot as signalled, or to one not signalled, must be made before another shot is fired.

17. Any alteration of a scoring ticket must be witnessed by an officer in charge of the firing point, and endorsed with his initials. Commanders will detail a sufficient number of men to act as scorers, to keep proper score sheets and to sign the same. Commanders will examine these sheets, and if found correct will certify to them and file them at once in the proper method. When scorers or commanders shoot, their names should be placed on another set of score sheets, to be kept and certified by other scorers and officers in the same manner.

18. So much of Sec. 7, Circular No. 3, c. s., Adjutant General's office, as is contained in the following words, i. e.: "If they are not as high as 208, the soldier will lose his classification, and will begin his rifle practice in a succeeding year as a Recruit" is hereby revoked. A soldier having once earned a classification can not lose it.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 20, 1890.

General Orders No 15.

With profound sorrow the undersigned announces to the Illinois National Guard the death of General Thomas S. Mather, which occurred at Springfield, Illinois, at 6:30 this morning.

General Mather was appointed Adjutant General of the State of Illinois, October 28th, 1858, by Governor Wood, and administered the affairs of that office until November 11, 1861. He was appointed Colonel of the 2d regiment of artillery, Illinois Volunteers, February 2d, 1862, and was mustered out to date, August 17th, 1865. He was promoted Brevet Brigadier General, U. S. Volunteers, September 28th, 1865.

When the storm of approaching war burst over the country in 1861, General Mather was a faithful son to his State and Country, and his devotion to his duties will remain a lasting monument to his manhood and patriotism.

The officers of the Adjutant General's department will wear the usual badge of mourning for a period of thirty days, and the flag at the State Arsenal will fly at half mast on the day of the funeral.

JOSEPH W. VANCE,

Adjutant General.
